SENIORS, we've got the whole wide world in our hands. Whether we look at it standing on our heads or through rose-colored glasses, the pertinent question is—what are we going to do with it? Let's roll it around and get acquainted with every entrance so that someday each one of us can say, "It's now time to exit; I hope my assignment was well done."

The center of communication at JHS is office 422. From the time school begins, to the time school lets out, 422 is constantly at work.

Under the supervision of Assistant Principal, Donald B. Irwin, programs were made, attendance was checked, faculty and student problems were solved. A big job, but it is always done well to insure a bright future for all concerned.

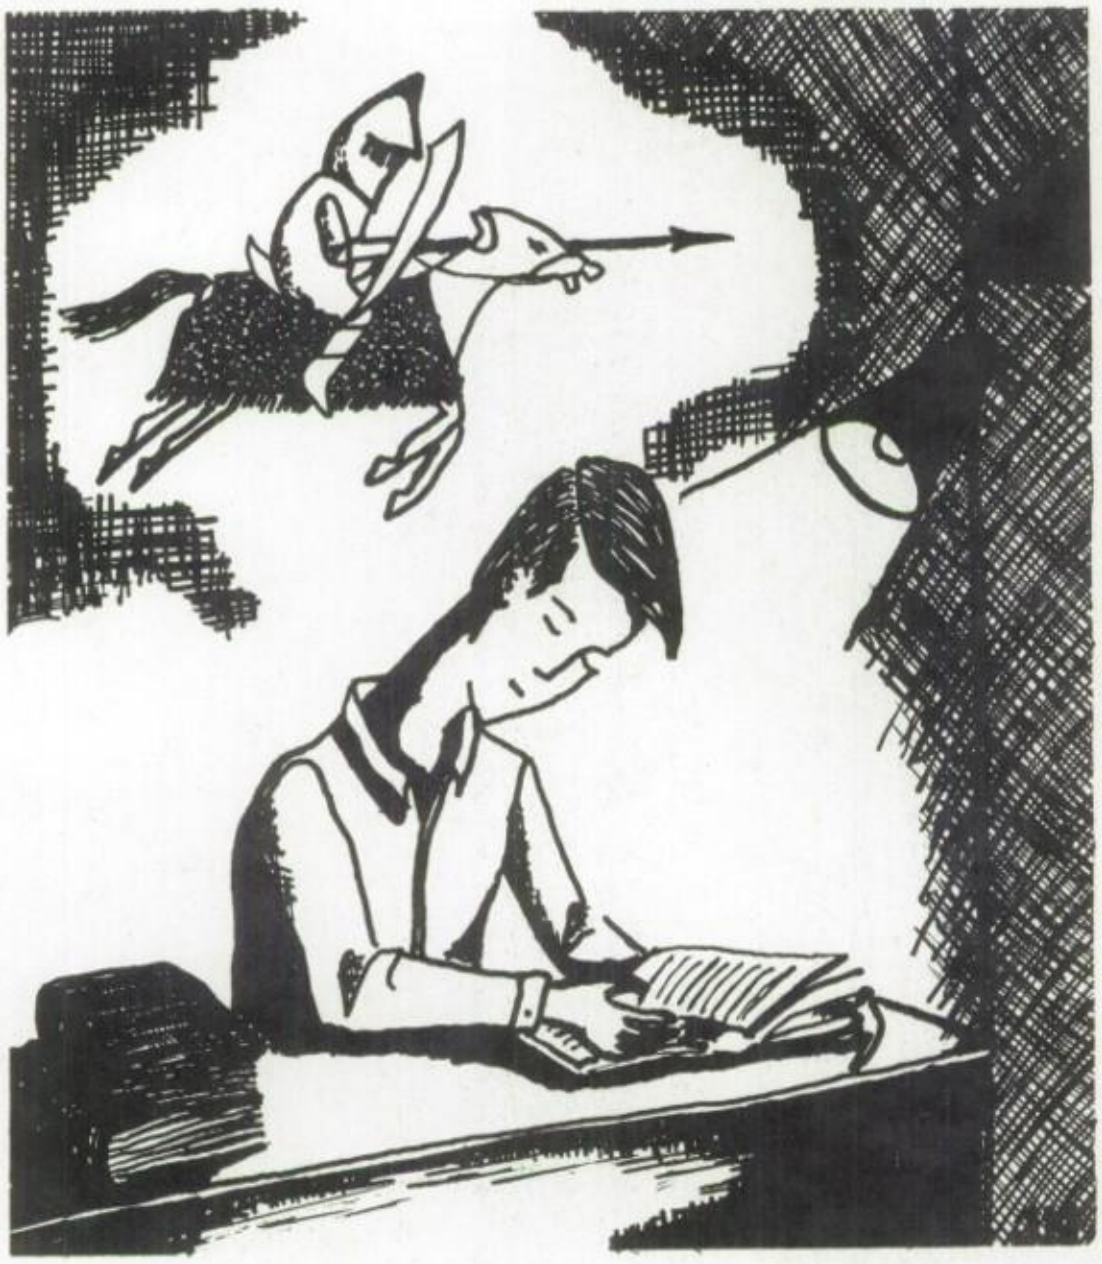
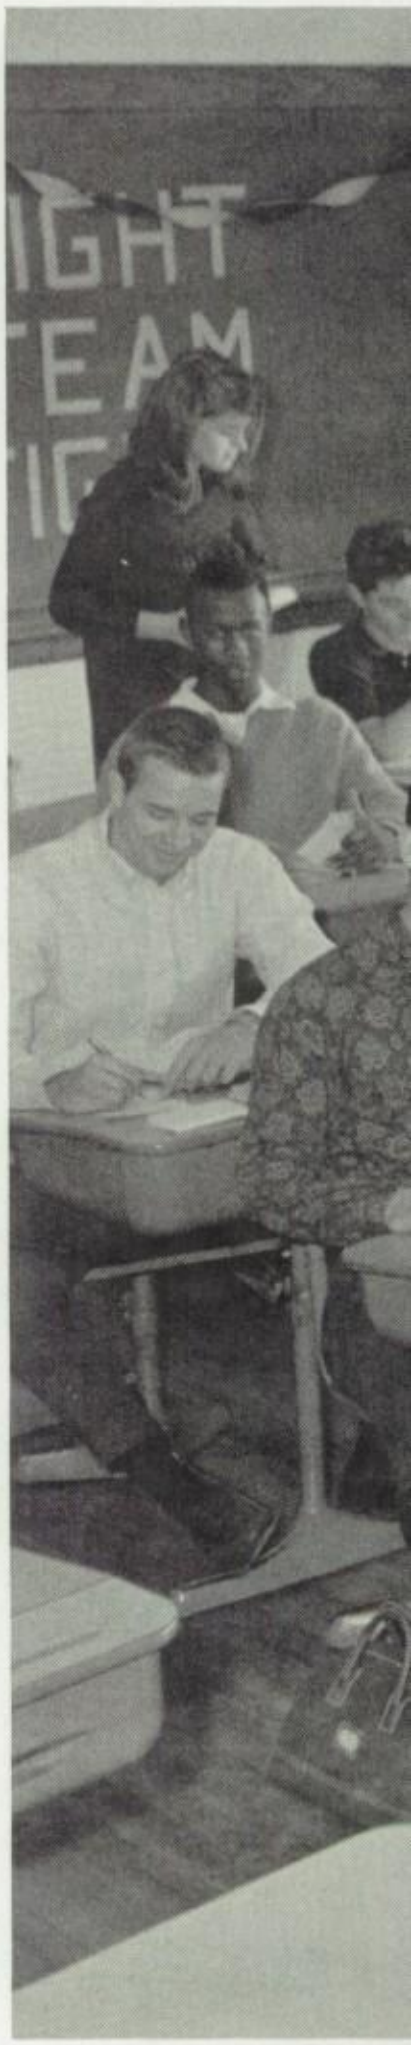
Classes Academic





English, a Must for All!

Our English Department strived to produce students who could read with understanding, write creatively and coherently, speak distinctly and intelligently, and think logically.

Students were encouraged to read extensively both fiction and non-fiction. The classics, as well as modern literature, in both prose and poetry were brought before the student.

The composing of themes, poems, and essays helped to give the student valuable practice in developing good writing habits. Writing for the newspaper and yearbook gave additional experience in creative writing. Writing contests during the school year also interested many students in displaying their ability to write with originality.

Debates, panel discussions, oral book reports, and public speaking gave the students opportunities to learn to speak with poise and assurance.

The importance of logical thinking in developing ideas for written and oral work was stressed in all English classes along with the proper communication habits.

The student who learned to read, write, speak and think maturely was well equipped to face the future with confidence.

Miss Olive Katter is chairman of the English Department.

The Spice of History Is History Itself

The History Department of JHS included a myriad of interesting and fascinating courses from which the student could choose. American history told the story of the United States and the Constitution that governs our country. Problems of Democracy and economics offered understanding of the laws and economy which run our great nation.

The student who was really interested in history could find himself lost among the pyramids, Ionic columns, and Roman roads of the ancient history course. During the second semester he could study the history of England, a country with which our own history is closely associated.

With the large selection of courses, each JHS historian was certain to find subjects he needs for a better understanding of his native land and subjects which interest him and arouse his curiosity.

A Future With Business

If one chooses to prepare for a career in business, there is no better place than JHS. The school gives one the opportunity to not only learn typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping, but also how to operate business machines, and to interpret business law. The student too, is taught the business of selling and the importance of clerical training.

At the honor assembly at the end of the year, the best students in the field of typing and shorthand are honored and receive mention. This is another step to a rewarding future in business.

The Business Department aids in getting part - time jobs for capable students. This gives the student a taste of on-the-job training in the business world.

Miss Twila Wassum and Mrs. Helen Shirk,

A storehouse of knowledge.

A Storehouse of Information

When book reports and research papers were due, each JHS student knew exactly where to head—the library! In this large, quiet room were books enough to fulfill all types of assignments. There were novels, biographies, autobiographies, and more technical books for science classes. Students could also use reference books such as encyclopedias and dictionaries, and the long list of periodicals.

Under the direction of Miss Twila Wassum and Mrs. Helen Shirk, co-librarians, this year's library was a smooth-running operation. The Library Club offered their aid, and books were accurately kept in constant circulation.

A Guide to the Future with Fine Arts

Bach, Schubert, Rembrandt, Van Gogh, and Shakespeare—these are significant names which relate to the Fine Arts Department at JHS.

Mrs. Josephine Quigley heads the Art Department and her fine artists. Through the year they participate in various art contests and displays. JHS is proud of the many illustrations and art works these creative students produce.

"To be or not to be, that is the question." Well, there was no question about our splendid Dramatics Department. Miss Carol James led her cast through fine productions. Assemblies, and especially the class play brought entertainment for all.

"Here comes the band." These were words all people heard as Mr. Glyn Edwards presented his band at football games, parades, and concerts. A group of students, chiefly from the band, studied a course in theory and harmony. Here a new appreciation of music was developed.

In Mr. Carl B. Miller's Music Appreciation class, students learned to appreciate composers and their music. Mr. Miller also led 101 voices in his mixed chorus.

The Fine Arts Department brings out the best in creative minds and adds color to the school curriculum.

A Career in Aeronautics - Your Future Goal

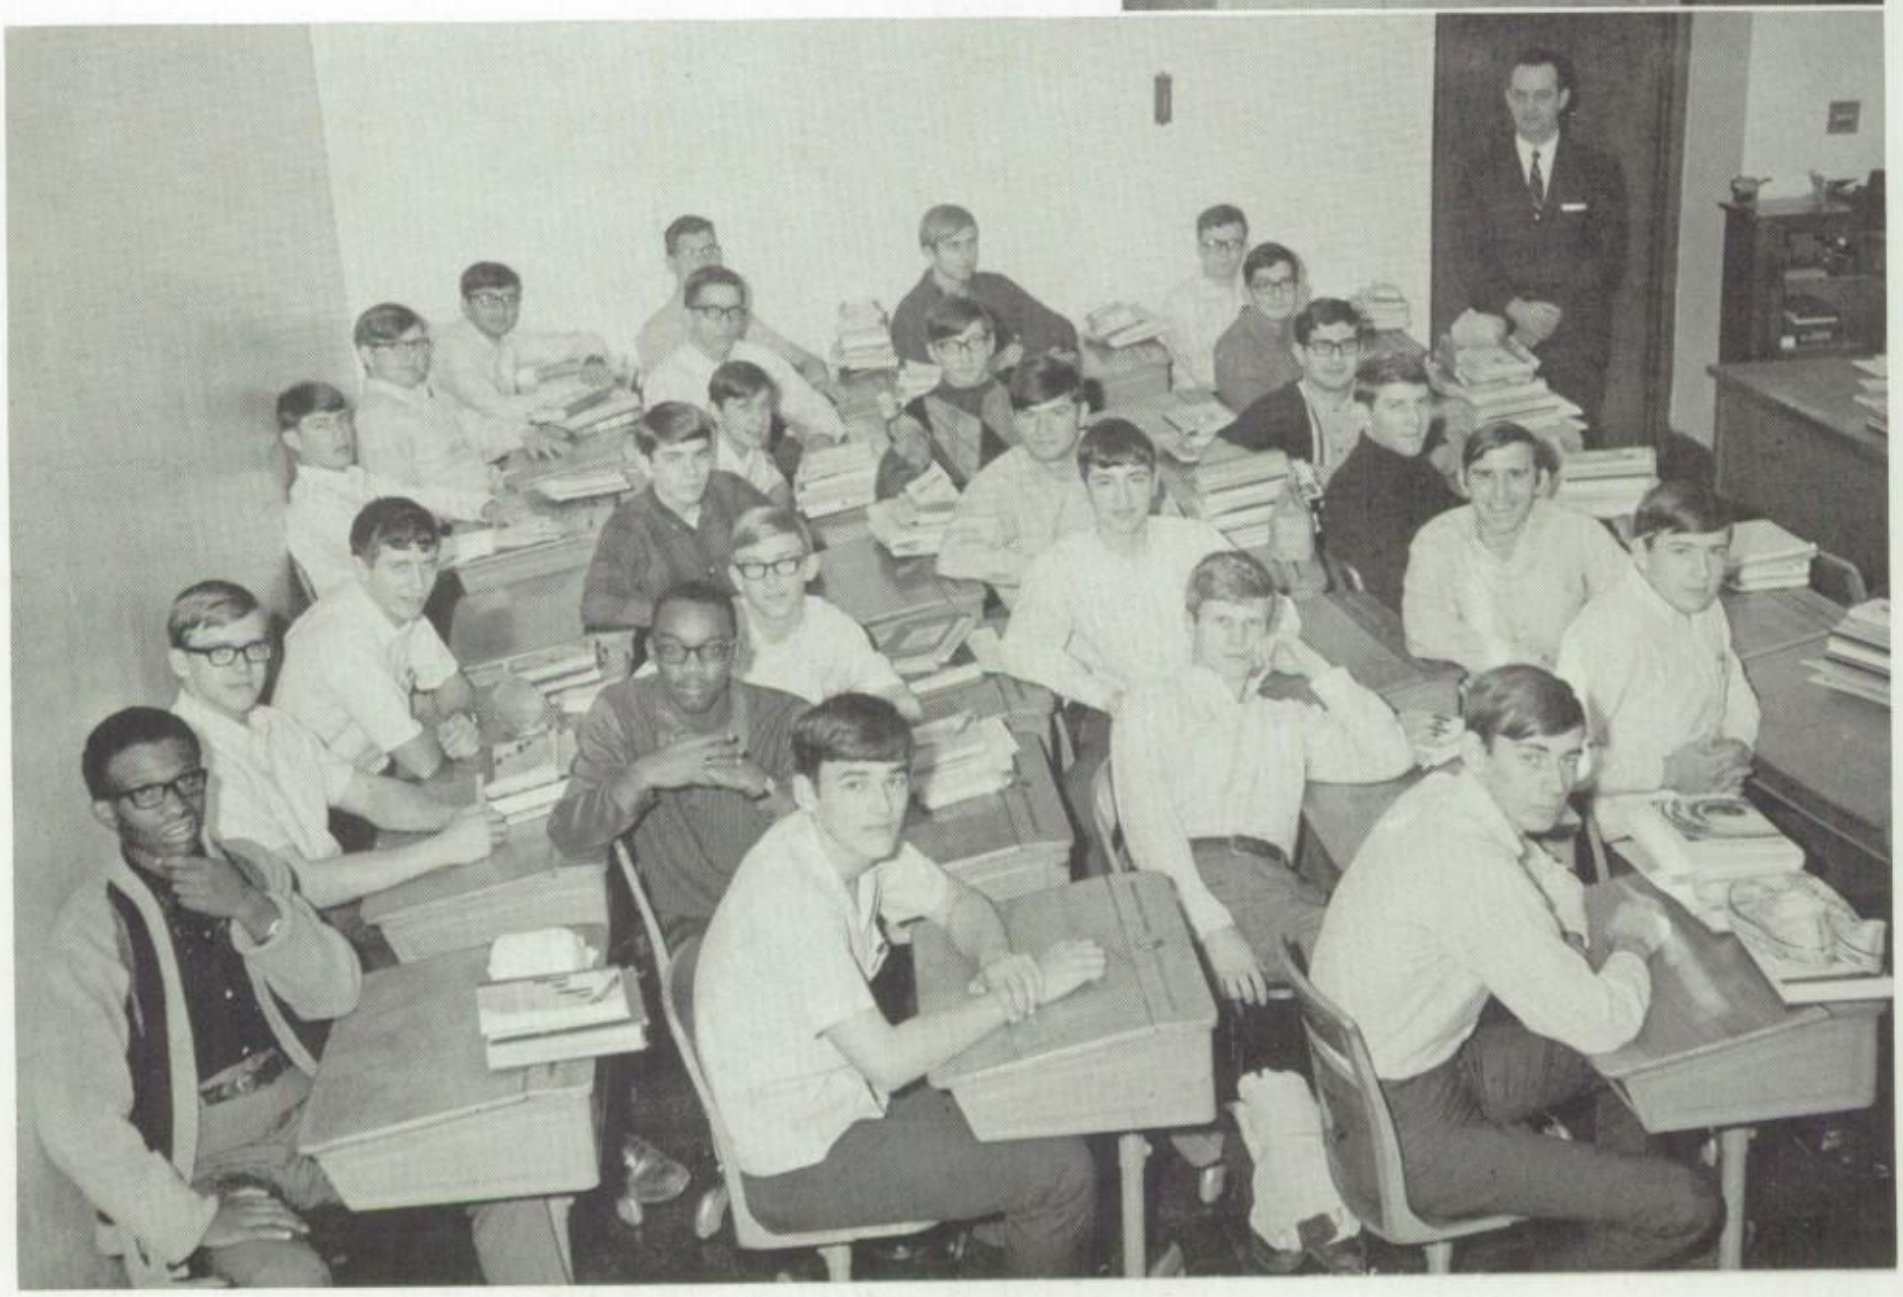
Among the many elective courses at JHS, aeronautics is one of the best that can be taken. Due to the growing popularity of this course, Mr. Frank Weaver instructs two classes and Mr. Ralph Weigle, one aeronautics class.

Mr. Weaver, a former World War II pilot, combines both experience and knowledge in his instruction. Mr. Weaver at present does quite a lot of piloting on his own.

New courses of study have been added because of the growing future of aeronautics. The students learn the procedures of taking-off, flying, and landing the plane. Also the problems presented by navigation, wind direction, and weather are considered in the teaching of the fundamentals of flying. To climax the course, Mr. Weaver's classes are usually taken for an airplane ride sometime during the year.

A promising future in aeronautics is unlimited. Careers in aviation are becoming more popular each year. A young graduate could become a pilot, navigator, flight engineer, mechanic, radio operator, or control tower operator.

Three fine boys study the ways of an airplane.

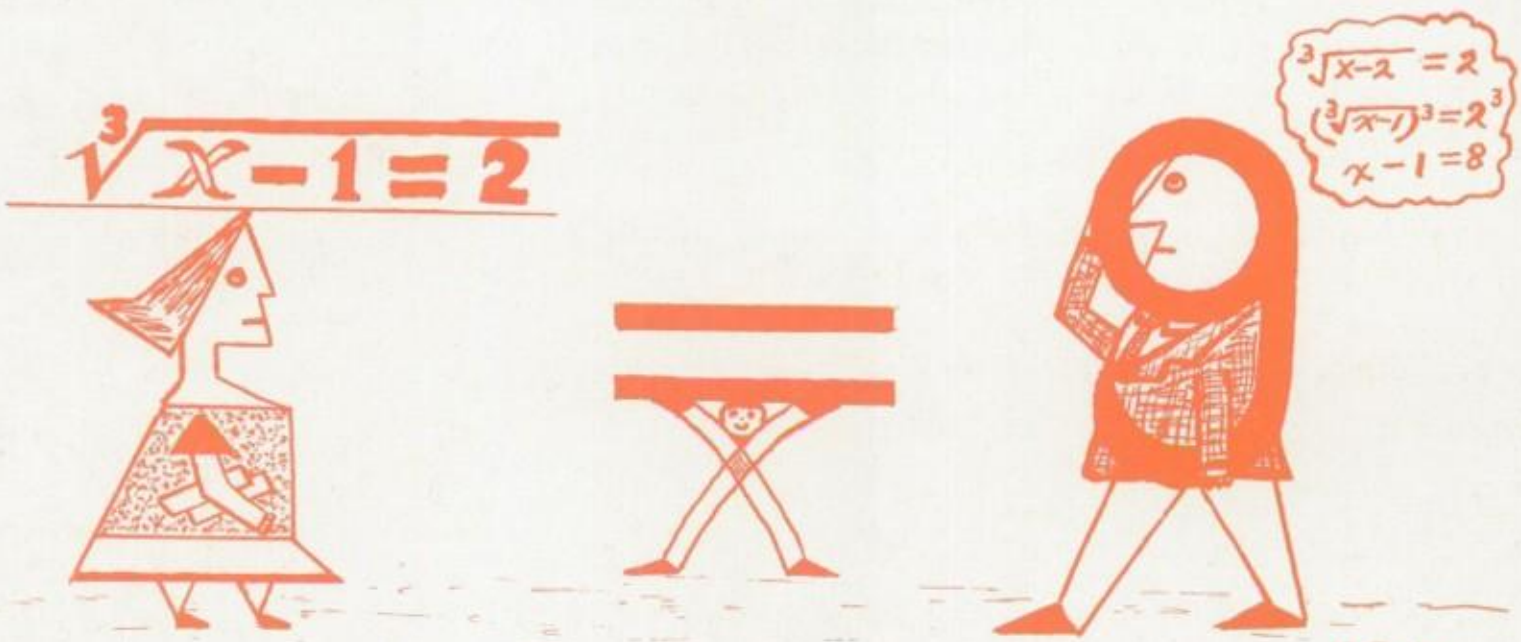


Mathematics is Changing

Mathematics is one subject one will never stop using in everyday life. Whether one plans for a career as a housewife, a janitor, a scientist, a teacher, a nurse, or as a professional man, one's knowledge of mathematics is a must!

The Mathematics Department at JHS offers students capable instructors and varied courses in the field. Algebra, geometry, trigonometry, math analysis, business math, and general math are offered the students.

The introduction of Modern Math into the system is the beginning of great changes in this "must" subject.



Mathematics is a must in everyday life.

Future Housewives and Mothers

Future housewives get in practice.

With the assistance of Mrs. Jane Manners, our Home Economics Department was the scene of continuous activity. Clattering of pots and pans could be heard, and the aroma of delicacies could many times be sniffed throughout the halls of JHS.

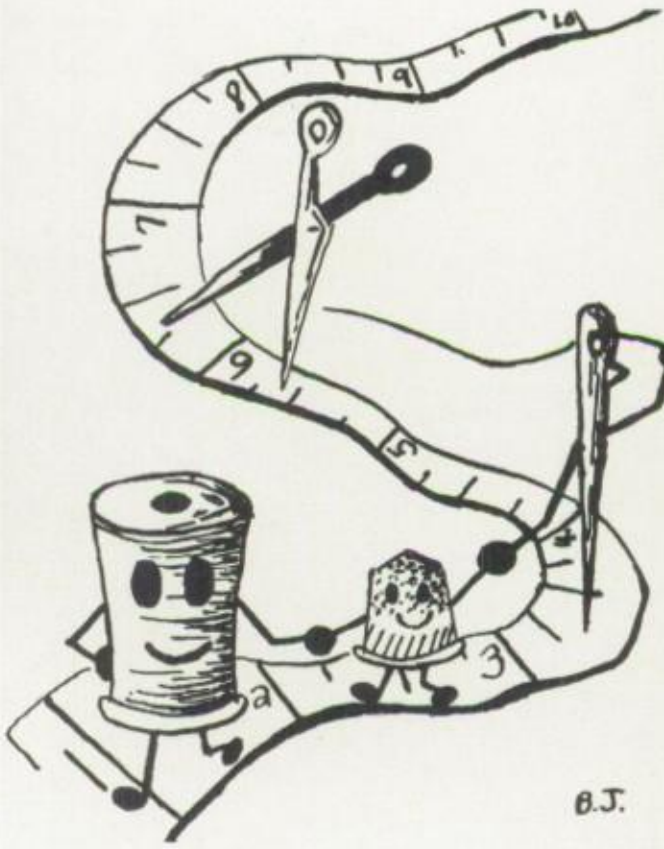
The girls were given instruction on the care and management of a home. A thorough study of child care, family relations, and the importance of nutrition were among the subjects discussed.

There was also a class offered for senior girls interested in a nursing career. This homemaking course meant studying all aspects of nutrition, and with this knowledge, girls can become better homemakers.

Learning the significance of nutrition.

Sewing a fine seam will come in handy in the future.

Cutting a pattern the correct way.



B.J.

Dress Designers of Tomorrow

Our Sewing Department, under the direction of Mrs. Gloria Fenik, is where the girls at JHS learn how to create a wardrobe of their own at a nominal expense.

Many girls who were offered Sewing I or II for five periods a week or those enrolled for three periods a week for one semester learned helpful hints to improve their sewing ability. How to operate and care for the different machines, how to select correct patterns and how to sew with proper technique were among the lessons discussed in class.

This year's projects included skirts of various styles, dresses, jumpers and suits. Many were slacks and jacket sets or skirt and jacket outfits. The department also aided a student or a teacher in distress and did various repair jobs throughout the year.

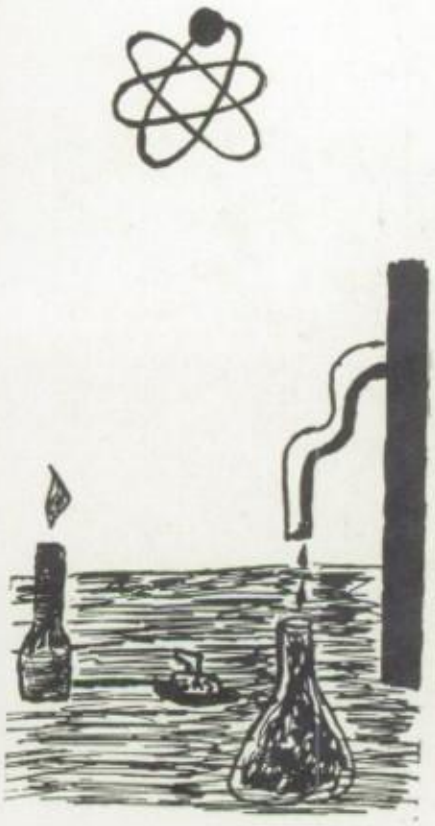
Language—A Face of Foreign Lands

Learning a foreign language is a rewarding experience. At JHS we are fortunate to be able to learn French, Spanish, Latin, or German. Students in these classes this year have not only learned to speak a language, but also to write and sing in the native tongue of a particular country. As a student progresses in a language, our excellent teachers try to teach him the accent, customs, and ideas of the people of the country.

Taking a foreign language course meant hard studying for a student, because he had to learn accent, gender, and verbs in all tenses. But it was really a rewarding year, because students learned about another country and had the satisfaction of knowing that they could actually speak another language! After one year of speaking, reading, singing, and learning a foreign language, many students became enthusiastic about traveling abroad.

Science, A Step to the Future



The function of the Science Department is to teach the wonders and mysteries of the world to the students.

Physiology, biology, chemistry and physics are all branches of the Science Department. Chemistry and physics are two of the main divisions of the Science Department and are stressed extensively. Chemistry deals with chemicals and their reactions when mixed together. Physics pertains to gravity and force.

Every year the Science Department enters into competition with the other area schools in the Science Fair. Here students match wits, trying to come up with an original entry. The Science Fair is held at the Cambria County War Memorial in February.

Entering the Science field is a worth-while career no matter how one looks at it. It's still part of someone's future.

Mr. William Farren heads the Science Department.

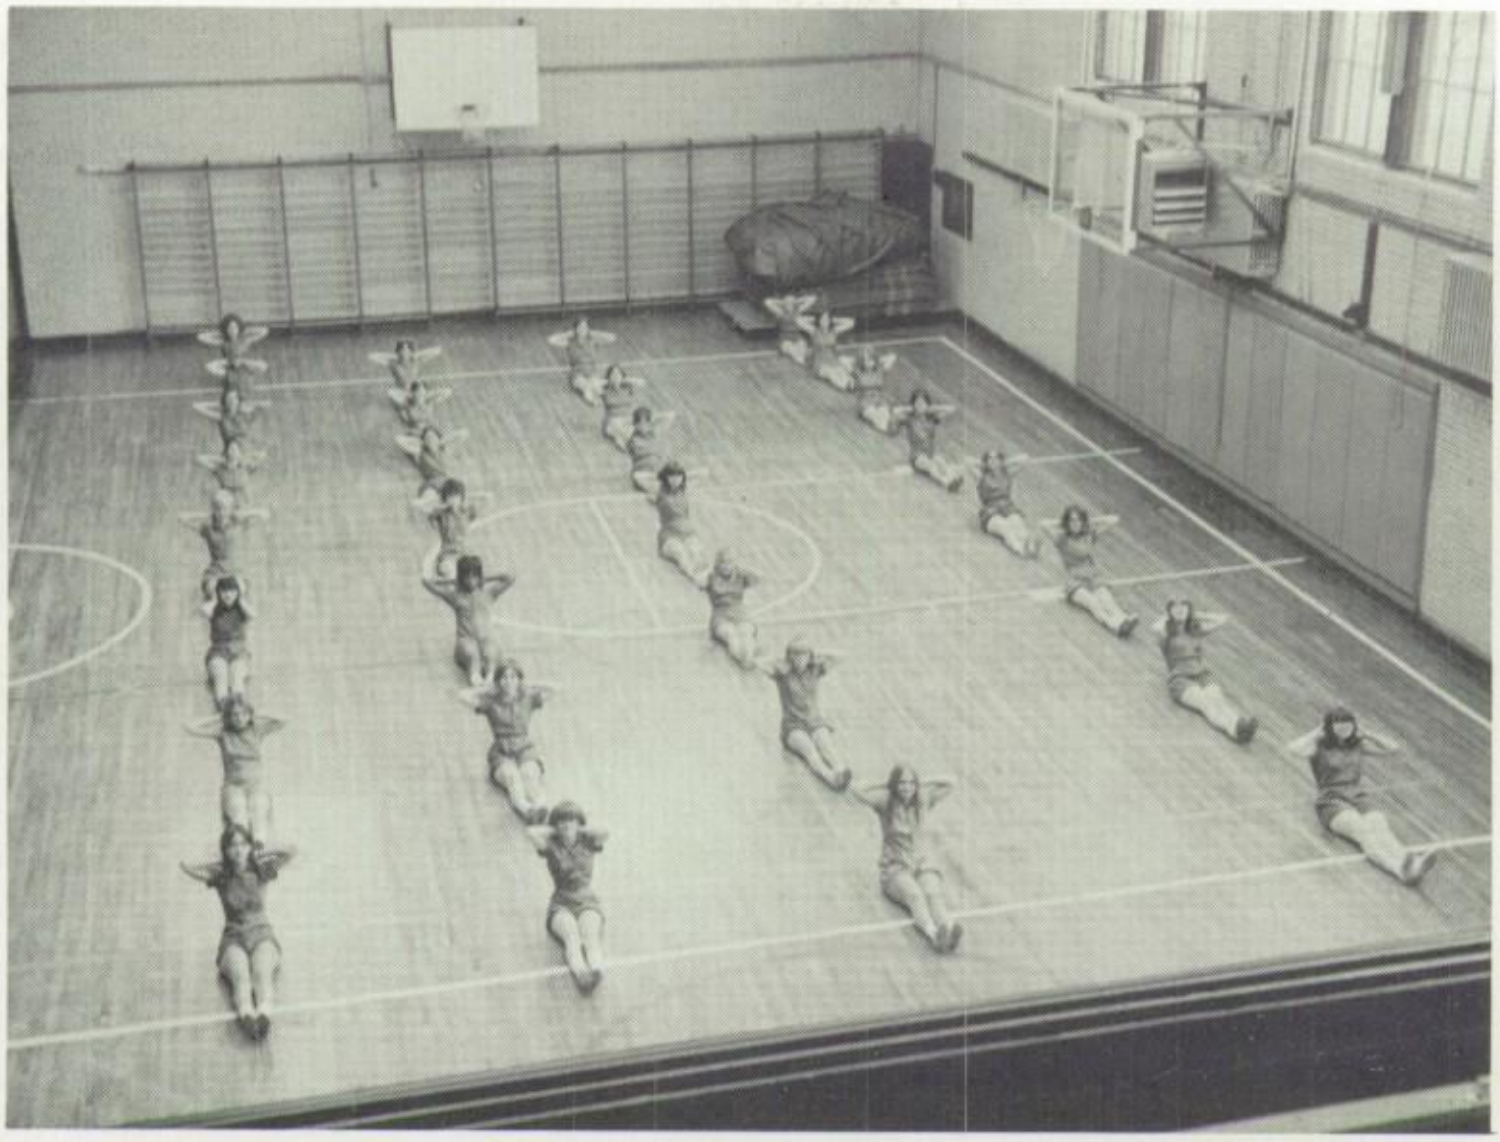
To Insure a Happy Future

The boys of JHS, class of '68, will readily agree that of all their classes during the week, physical education, better known as gym, was one of the best on their schedule.

Mr. James Devorick, sometimes known as Mr. D., led the classes through the rigors of physical education and into the wonder world of gym. Mr. Devorick was constantly offering criticism where needed. But it was all in a humorous vein. Thus students had fun while learning.

The year progressed through batteries of tests and into everyone's favorite—paddleball! Then on to gymnastics and volleyball and many other terrific developmental activities that were fun for all.

There will always remain in the minds of the boys of the class of '68 a fond memory of Mr. D's classes in physical education.



Slimnastics on the move.

Away With Flabby Muscles!

Due to two periods a week, gals from JHS now have trimmer, healthier bodies. Vigorous exercise, followed by active participation in games such as football, basketball, volleyball, or baseball was routine during JHS gym classes.

Under the guidance of Miss Lois Miller and Mrs. Jane Minium, girls lost unwanted pounds by performing such exercises as jumping jacks, windmills and sit ups.

An unusual assignment to build better coordination was performed in Miss Miller's classes. A "half time" show would be presented during a break in a class football game. Each one unique, girls performed a routine march, a cheer, or even a dance, using Indian Clubs. Mental alertness was heightened by responding to exercise commands. One must practice continually for physical toneness, not just in a gym class. Results can be achieved in the future by practice of what one learned in physical education. Anyway one looks at it, it's still the student's future . . . and figure!

Girls relax for a moment.

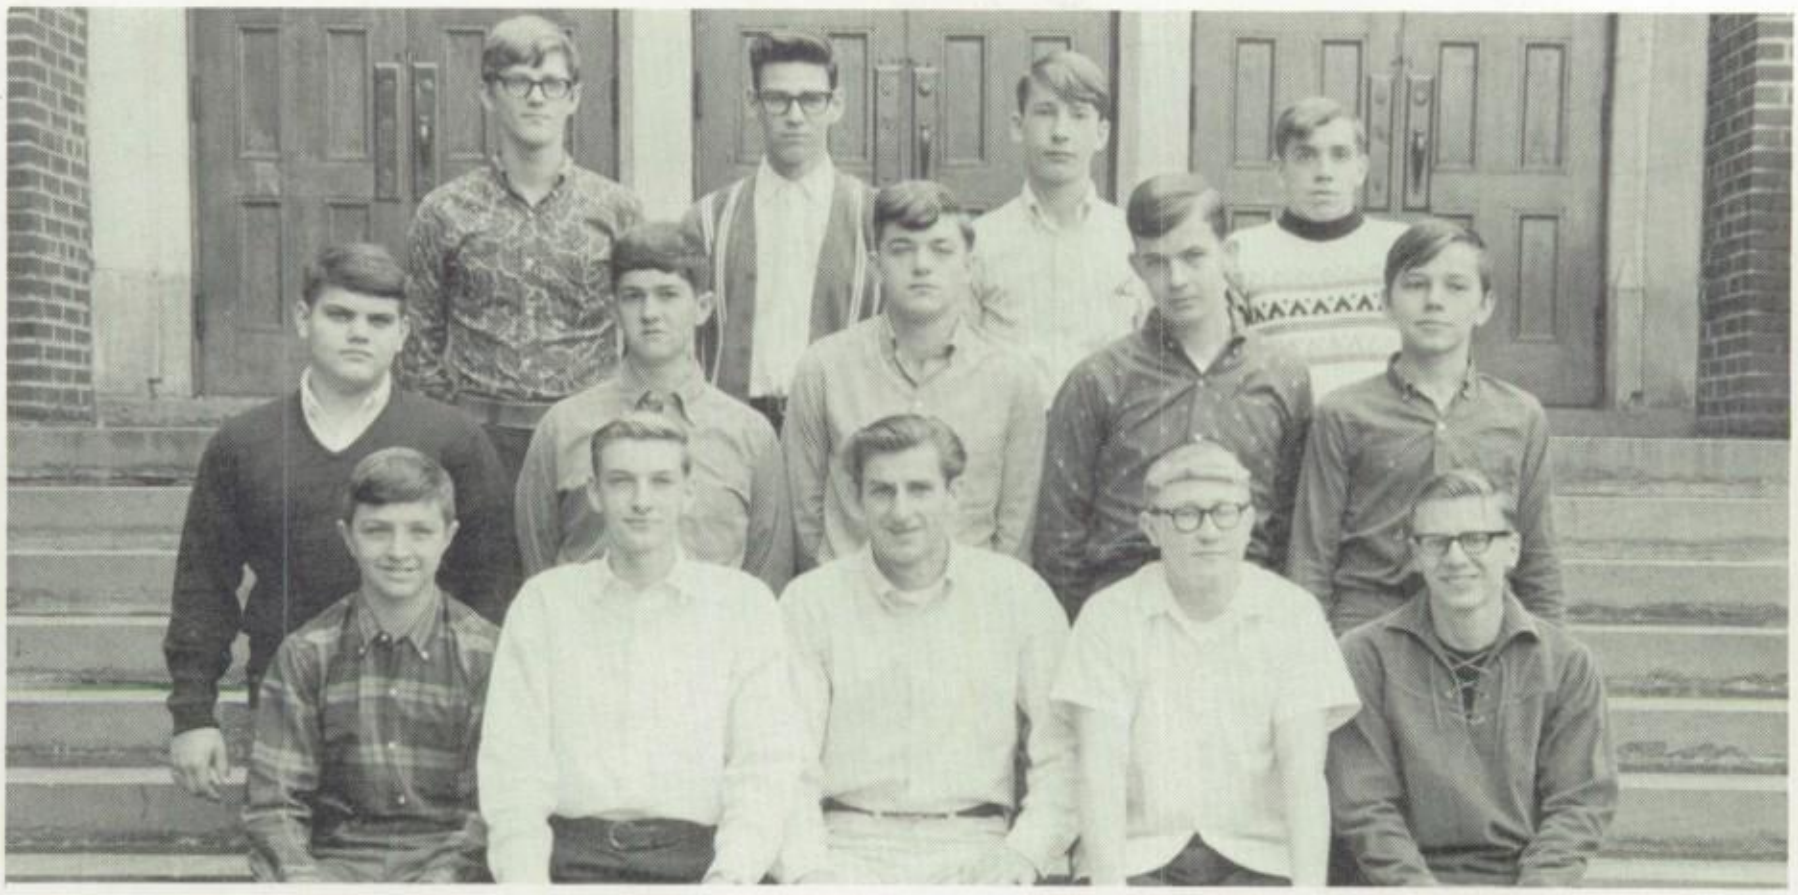
Minds and Machines

This combination is what makes up the variety of shops at JHS. Any boy interested in planning his career in the field of machines will easily find what he wants in our shops. The fields are open in carpentry, drafting, printing, sheet metal, auto body, electric, machine, and auto mechanics.

This year JHS has turned out an abundance of skillfully trained mechanics for all kinds of work. As one walked past these shops, with presses rolling, hammers pounding, and saws cutting, it was evident that these shops were producing the skilled workers in today's mechanical world.



These boys made possible the high school newspaper.

Our Printers Proud

The Print Shop of JHS is one of the shops our school is really proud of. These boys put much hard work into learning the unique skills of a qualified printer. Along with a strong desire for learning, these boys have the advantage of an experienced teacher, Mr. Kenneth Artice. With everything in their favor, is it any wonder that these boys can go out into the business world of today and find success in this worthy profession.

Walking past the Print Shop, one can always hear the presses rolling! They are turning out all the tickets, programs, and posters we depend upon throughout the school year. They are also responsible for printing, The Centralizer, our school newspaper. JHS is the only high school in the area that can boast a newspaper written and printed entirely by students.

And these boys made possible tickets, programs, posters, etc. for the school activities.

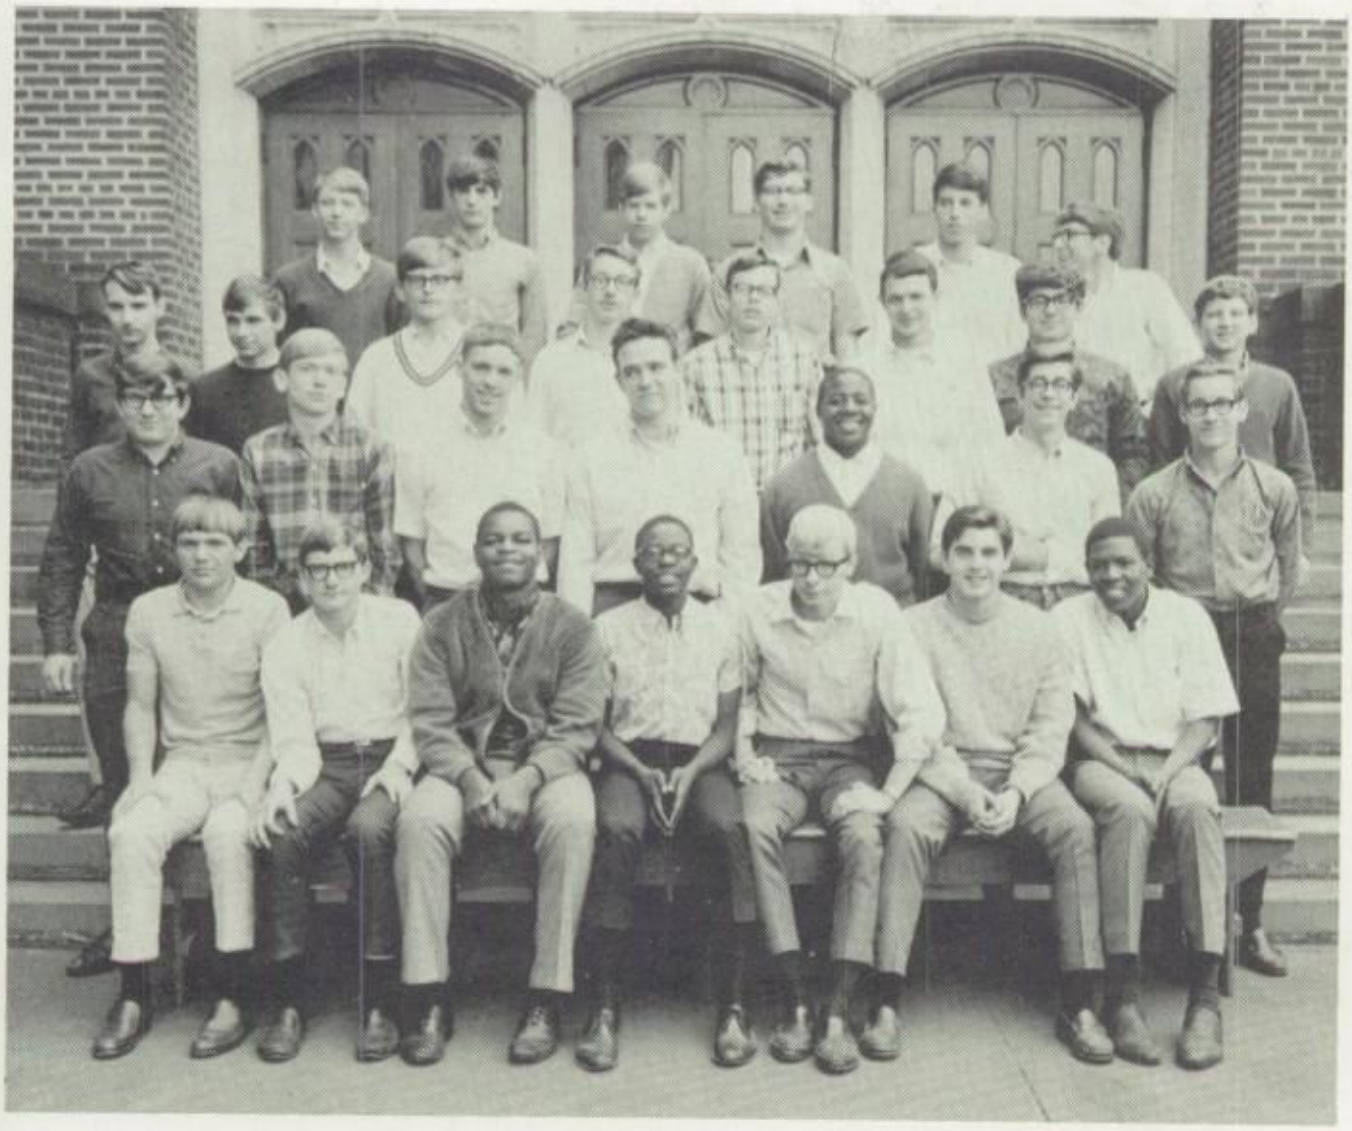
Woodwork Artists of '68

The young men in Mr. Robert Anderson's cabinet making and carpentry classes were busy this year learning some of the techniques used in their chosen career.

Students taking Woodshop gain practical on-the-job experience in operating planers, joiners, drill presses, and lathes. When working on assignments such as filing cabinets and tables for the Cypress Avenue school, bookcases for the library, film racks for audio-visual, or picnic tables for the Home Economics department, the students first make sketches and figure how many board feet of lumber will be needed for each project. The students are also permitted to work on personal projects such as turkey callers (which bring in the game) and cedar chests for themselves.

Exceptionally fine pieces of wood work are produced when the boys make beautiful wooden cats and geese in the form of wall plaques.

Motor Physicians of '68



A stalwart group of young men

The young men in auto mechanics class are a unique group of students who explore the inner workings of automobiles. These students don't work on projects as in other shops. Instead, they learn their trade by actually repairing and overhauling mockups of cars as well as working on their own cars and those of other individuals in the school system. Mr. John Buriak teaches these future troubleshooters many of the techniques required in the repairing, overhauling and improving of autos.

Experience and knowledge gained from this on-the-job training serves as a springboard for future occupation. Good mechanics are much in demand in this mechanized world today.

Our future mechanics and all well trained

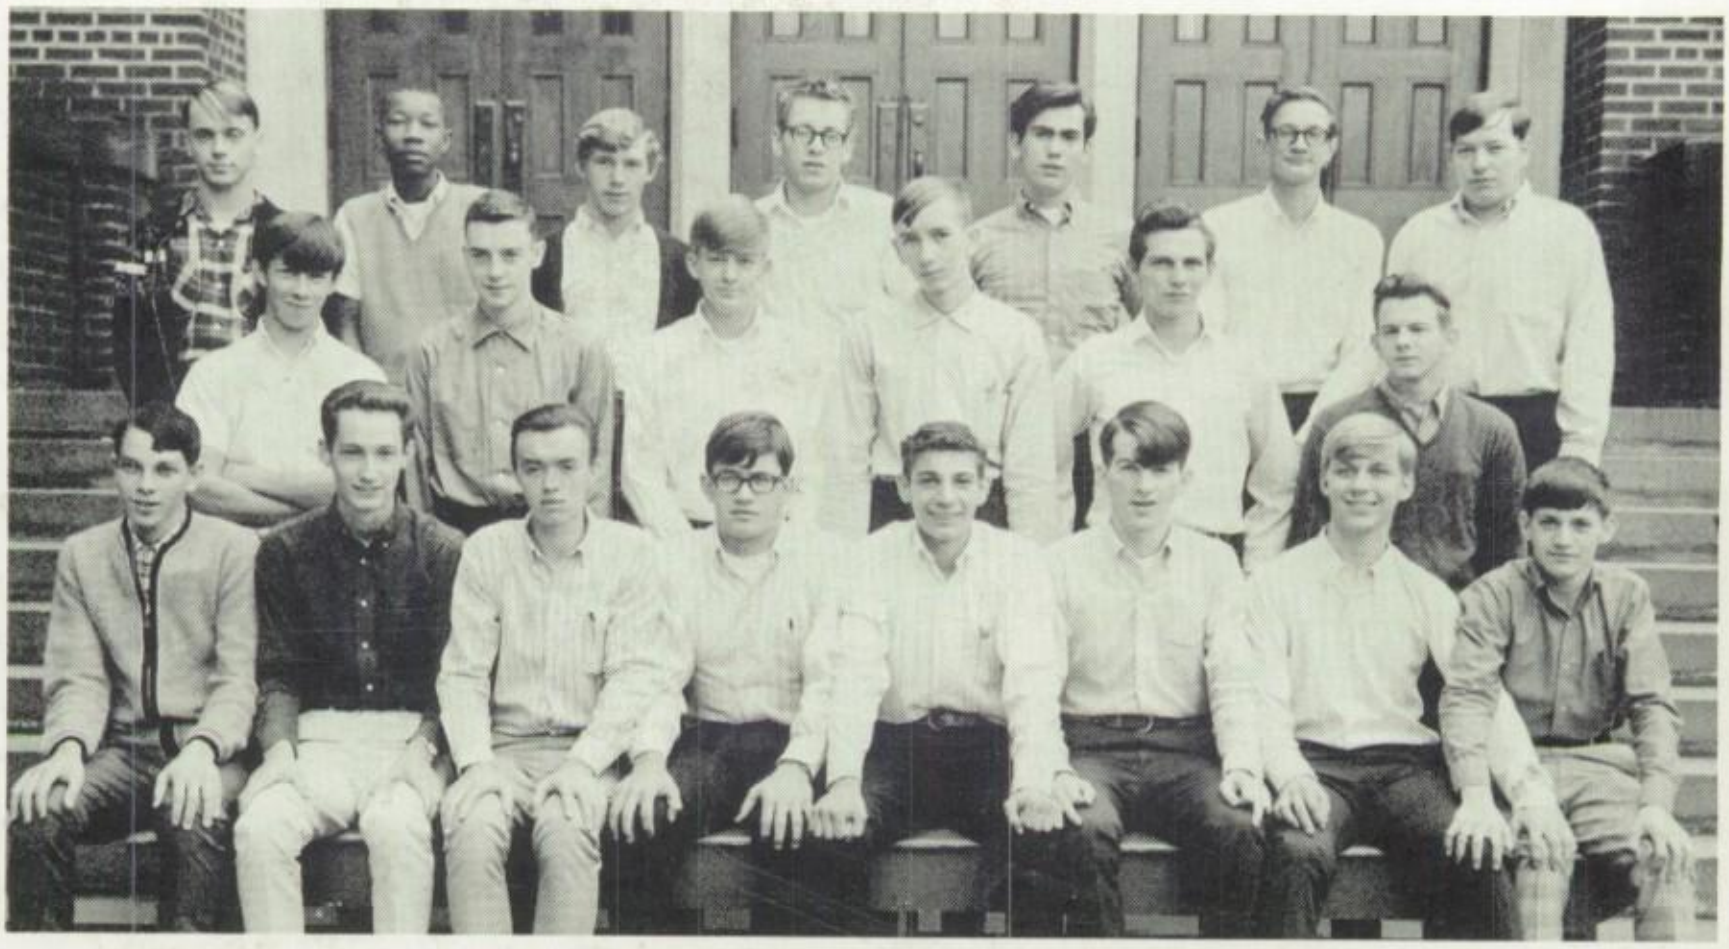
Industrial Arts is for Your Future

The Industrial Arts classes at JHS, taught by Mr. Ross Weaver, are both interesting and educational. In his classes, the students not only learn to draw an object but also how the dimensions of that object are obtained.

Interesting movies are presented concerning the various fields of engineering which make the class interesting. The student gets an idea of what type of engineering he would like to pursue after high school.

Mr. Weaver's classes include three academic drafting classes and one vocational class. The academic drafting class learns the basic principles of drafting, along with the mathematical basis for solving problems. The vocational drafting class learns more advanced drafting principles to prepare them for an engineering career. To prepare for a career in Industrial Arts means a promising future. Mr. Weaver's class is part of that interesting and promising career.

Academic drafing is a must in tomorrow's world



Some good-looking boys look to a future in electricity.

Electricians of tomorrow

Plenty of Energy in Our Electricians

Since that first jolt of lightning many years ago, electricity has played a leading role in the everyday lives of everybody. The energy these boys have shown throughout the year has made them the electricians of tomorrow.

Instructing these boys in the basic principles of electricity, was Mr. George Mandichak. First, the boys were taught how to understand electricity in relation to machinery, and then they were given the opportunity to repair many different mechanisms.

The electricians of JHS are now qualified to go into the various fields of electricity and find out where they are best suited in this satisfying profession. Again, as in past years, the Electric Shop of JHS has turned out another group of exceptional workers.

These boys at work represent power

Machinists of the Future

The boys in Machine Shop are learning how to work the machines of tomorrow. Under the watchful eyes of Mr. Walter Reighard, these students learn engine lathe operations, drill press operations, and shaper operations.

A student learns to lay out his work, cut stock, and set up his job in a machine. This work done in Machine Shop is comparative to an apprentice's work in a first-class shop.

The boys do a great amount of work for the Johnstown School District. Repairing desks, making tools and putting any other mechanical instrument in good shape is all part of the course.

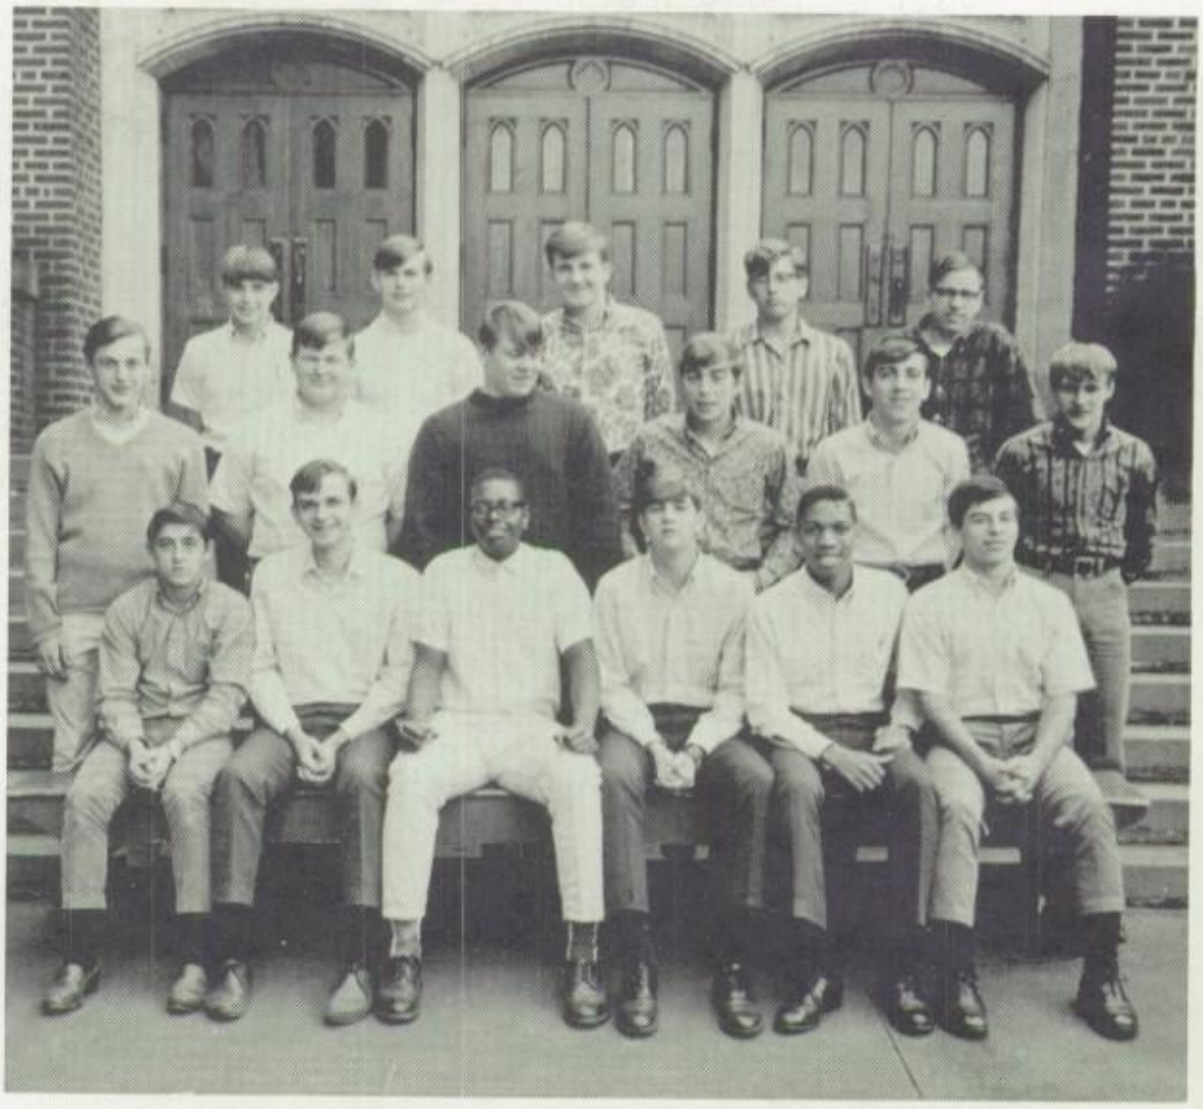
When one hears of power in the Machine Shop, he will know that the future machinists of tomorrow are at work.

Making tools and repairing jobs is second-nature to these boys

Automobiles Are Their Business

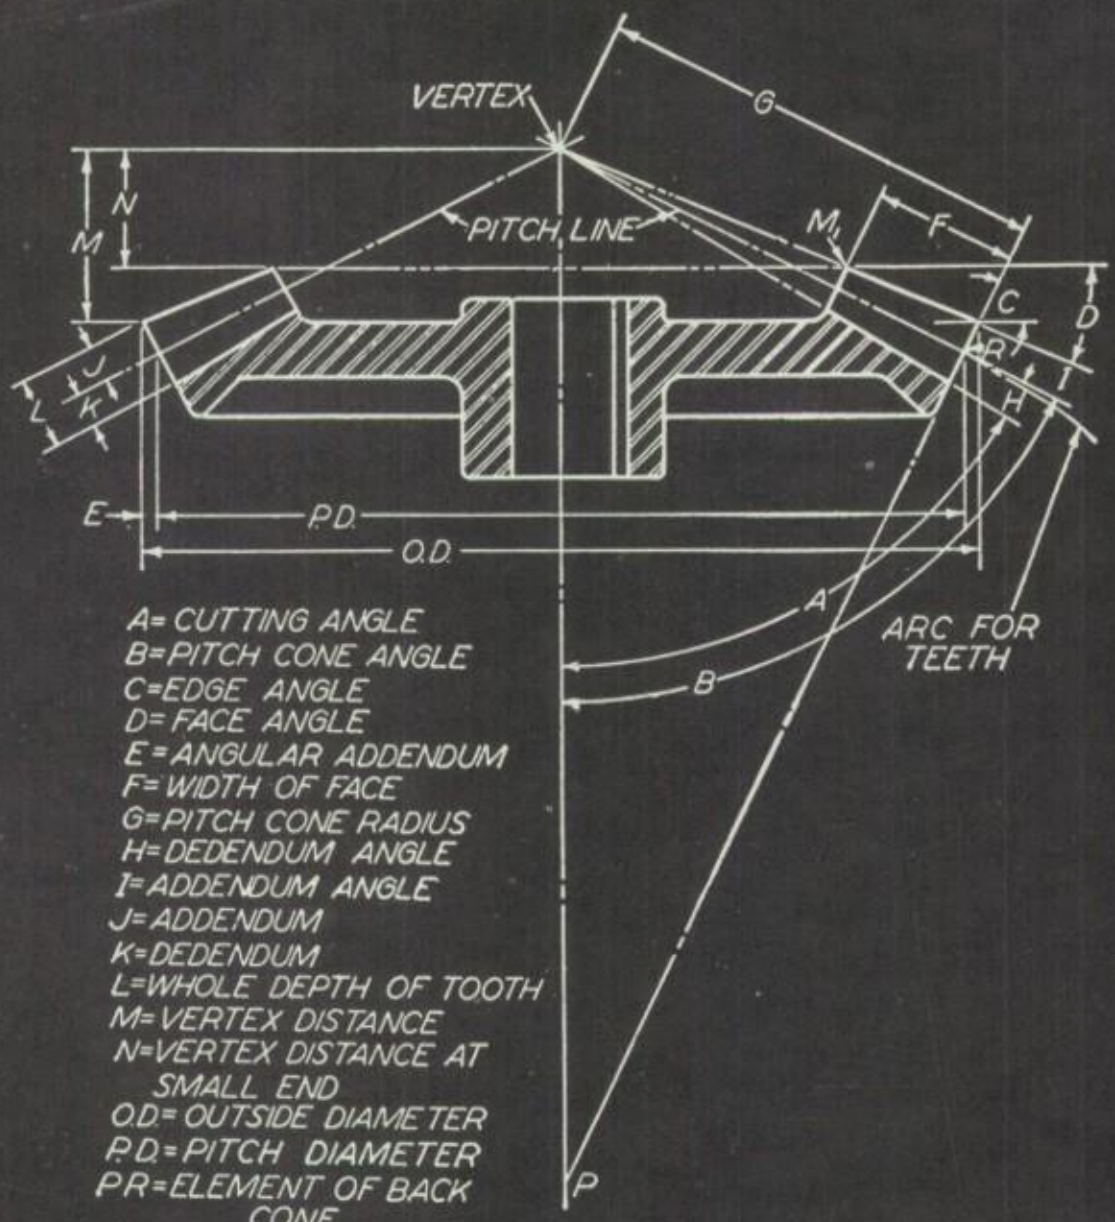
Are these boys prepared for the future? You can be certain they are, because the boys are taught all the fine points of auto-body work under the direction of an expert teacher, Mr. Frank Krall. They have worked hard this year to renew the appearance of many, "aged automobiles". Damaged automobiles are their business, and you can be sure it is a good business.

In their future, knowledge will come easily to them because of the fine training they have received at JHS this year. There is no doubt in anyone's mind that these boys have a promising future. Experienced boys like Edward Price, Arthur Bolton, Barry George, Gary Spory, and Richard Huber will not fail to prove that JHS' Auto-Body Shop holds its hands out to an interesting future.

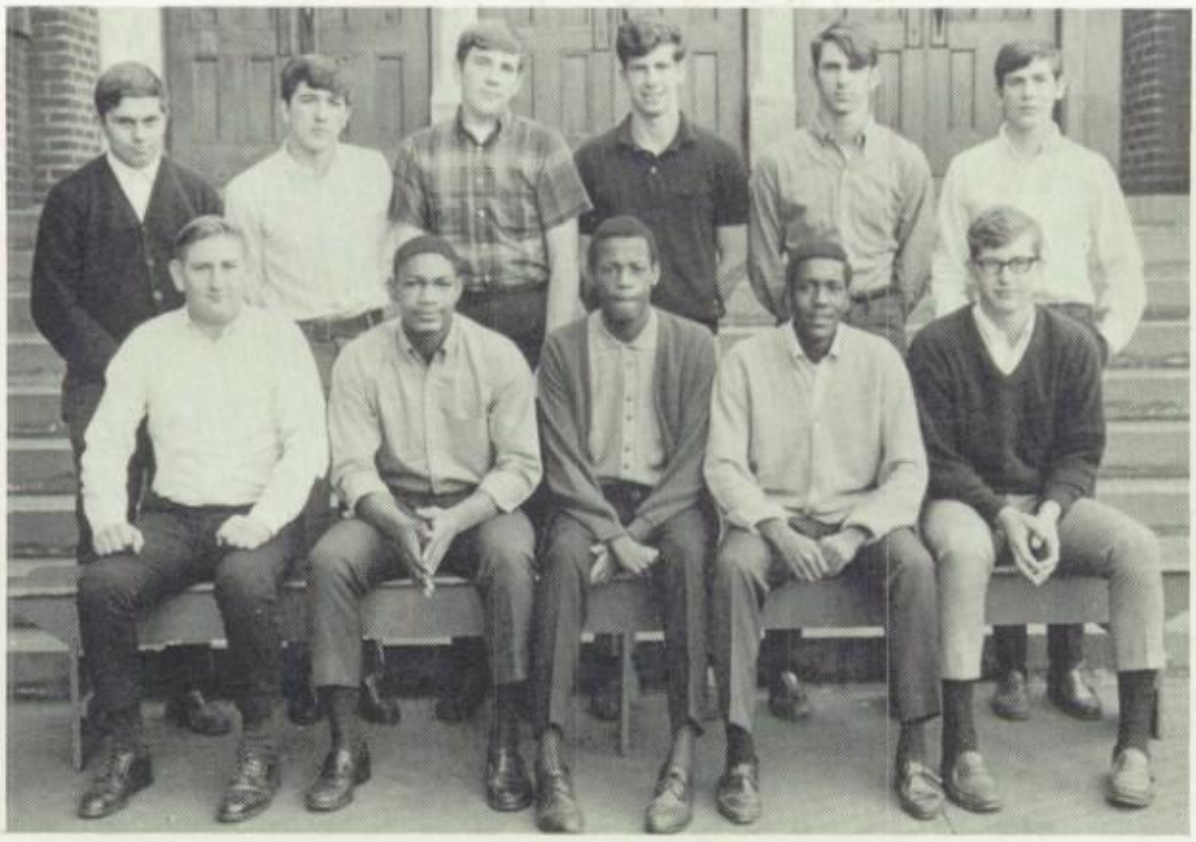


Knowledge will come easily to them

Don't fail these boys, Mr. World



Everyone a fine gentleman



"Metal-minded" men look to the world outside

Can't beat these boys

Metal Minded Men

Any way one looks at it, there will be a demand for new metals and men to work with them. Under the direction of Mr. George Risher, the boys of the Sheet Metal Shop, are looking toward the future.

At the beginning of the year, the boys made small articles such as mugs and dust pans. By the end of the term, the "metal minded men" had learned to bend, arch, and weld certain kinds of metals.

Since the need for new metals and the demand for men to work with these metals is so great, the boys of the Sheet Metal Shop can be certain that no matter which way they look at it, the future belongs to them.

Mr. Charles Colbert
Supervisor of Audio-Visual Aids Department

We're Keeping In Step—

Movie projectors, record machines, tape recorders, records, microscope projectors, opaque projectors, and overhead projectors are checked, repaired when necessary, and delivered to the rooms that request their use by the Audio-Visual Aids Department.

Mr. Charles B. Colbert does the supervising of the machines and keeps them in good condition. During each month, twenty to thirty films are rented. One would say that the Audio-Visual Aids Department contributes much to the seeing and hearing of the students throughout the school year.

The department has photocopy equipment, mimeograph equipment, and a library containing over 1,200 film strips in addition to all the equipment mentioned above.

in football, basketball, baseball, and track. He received his Ed. D. from the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. Vonarx has also worked as a civil engineer for Chicago Bridge & Iron Co. To keep in shape for football, he loaded flat cars and worked on the railroad . He says his present job is to "provide an atmosphere in which people want to work, take a new look at what we are doing in education and determine if there are ways that we might discover a better method. Although education is his chief hobby, he also lists camping, reading, and fishing.

Sparkling Daughter

Dr. Vonarx is married to the former Eleanore Britton, also a teacher. He has one daughter, Melinda, 14, who is already receiving rave notices for her effervescense.. Those who know the family find them a joy to be with and a great credit to the Johnstown School System and community.

Finds Students Interested

"I think the students are interested in education." This is the impression Dr. Vonarx received from student contact on his visits to the various schools. After the Uniontown game, Dr. Vonarx said the team had given a good account, and he looked forward to a bright future for our boys. He truly believes the "students are interested and that's what counts!"

Two JHS Students Attend

"Watch the Birdie"

Although "Watch the birdie" is quite an obsolete caption, the Camera Club and all those who were on the staff have done an up-to-date job on the photographs for the yearbook of 1968. Under the direction of Mrs. Peg Bowes, the club undertakes the colossal task of cataloging in alphabetical order the individual photos of the senior class.

Also, during the year we all saw members of our Camera Club aid our photographer, Mr. John Hesselbein, in taking the pictures of the school clubs and other school activities. They gave much of their class time to creep into every corner of JHS. By doing this, they achieved the best candid pictures along with the familiar "look up and smile".

Thanks to the indefatigable efforts of the Camera Club, our yearbook is made more exciting and assembled most effeciently. For what would a yearbook be without pictures. The Chinese say a good picture is worth 5,000 words.

Say "cheese" and look attractive—young photographers look ahead.

Art staff had a full job getting book ready.

Art Students Today; Tomorrow Artists

"Show more depth," "Try this in ink wash," "Give more perspective," are only a few of the directions heard as one passes the doorway of 410. For in this room the artists of JHS are busy at work designing and sketching for the 1968 "Spectator." Members of the Art Staff are responsible for all cartoons and sketches drawn for the yearbook. The members of the Art Staff must be able to apply the principles of art to both "The Spectator" and the "The Centralizer." In order to be an Art Staff member one must have originality and artistic talent.

The staff, under the guidance of Mrs. Josephine Quigley, also sends many pieces of work to the Scholastic Art Contest and the members also participate in sending various posters to different contests.

Kathy Borodic and Kathy Rhodes were art co-editors. Kathy Borodic was in charge of the drawings while Kathy Rhodes took over the skill of lettering.

The Art Club—A Busy Group

This year's Art Club was really on the go. To climax the season, the group took a trip to Pittsburgh. The club saw the Buhl Plantarium, the International Art Exhibit at Carnegie, and Phipps Conservatory. This made for quite a day.

This year for Christmas the Art Club sent over two hundred favors to the forgotten men in the Torrance State Hospital. Art Club members worked long and hard to make this project possible.

Another project the members threw themselves enthusiastically into was the designing and selling of stationery. Each sheet of paper displayed a Trojan head.

In February, the artists took another trip to visit the Scholastic Art Exhibit. Every year JHS students participate in sending art work to this mammouth contest where they are judged for awards. At the end of the year, the club sponsored a contest. Any senior student who had taken art was allowed to join in the competition. The winner received a prize.

When Spring rolled around another trip was planned.

They Have Honorable Futures

A senior who is accepted into the National Honor Society is not there by luck; he earned it. A minimum of a B+ average is required to be in the Touchstone Chapter. Also, service, scholarship, leadership, and character are essential requirements for anyone wishing to be a member.

Induction is held at a student assembly where officers present their speeches and outline the aims of the National Honor Society.

A banquet is held for National Honor Society members in the spring. Thus, a year crowded with study and work was topped off with fitting tribute.

The Misses Roxana Fitt and Olive Katter were sponsors.

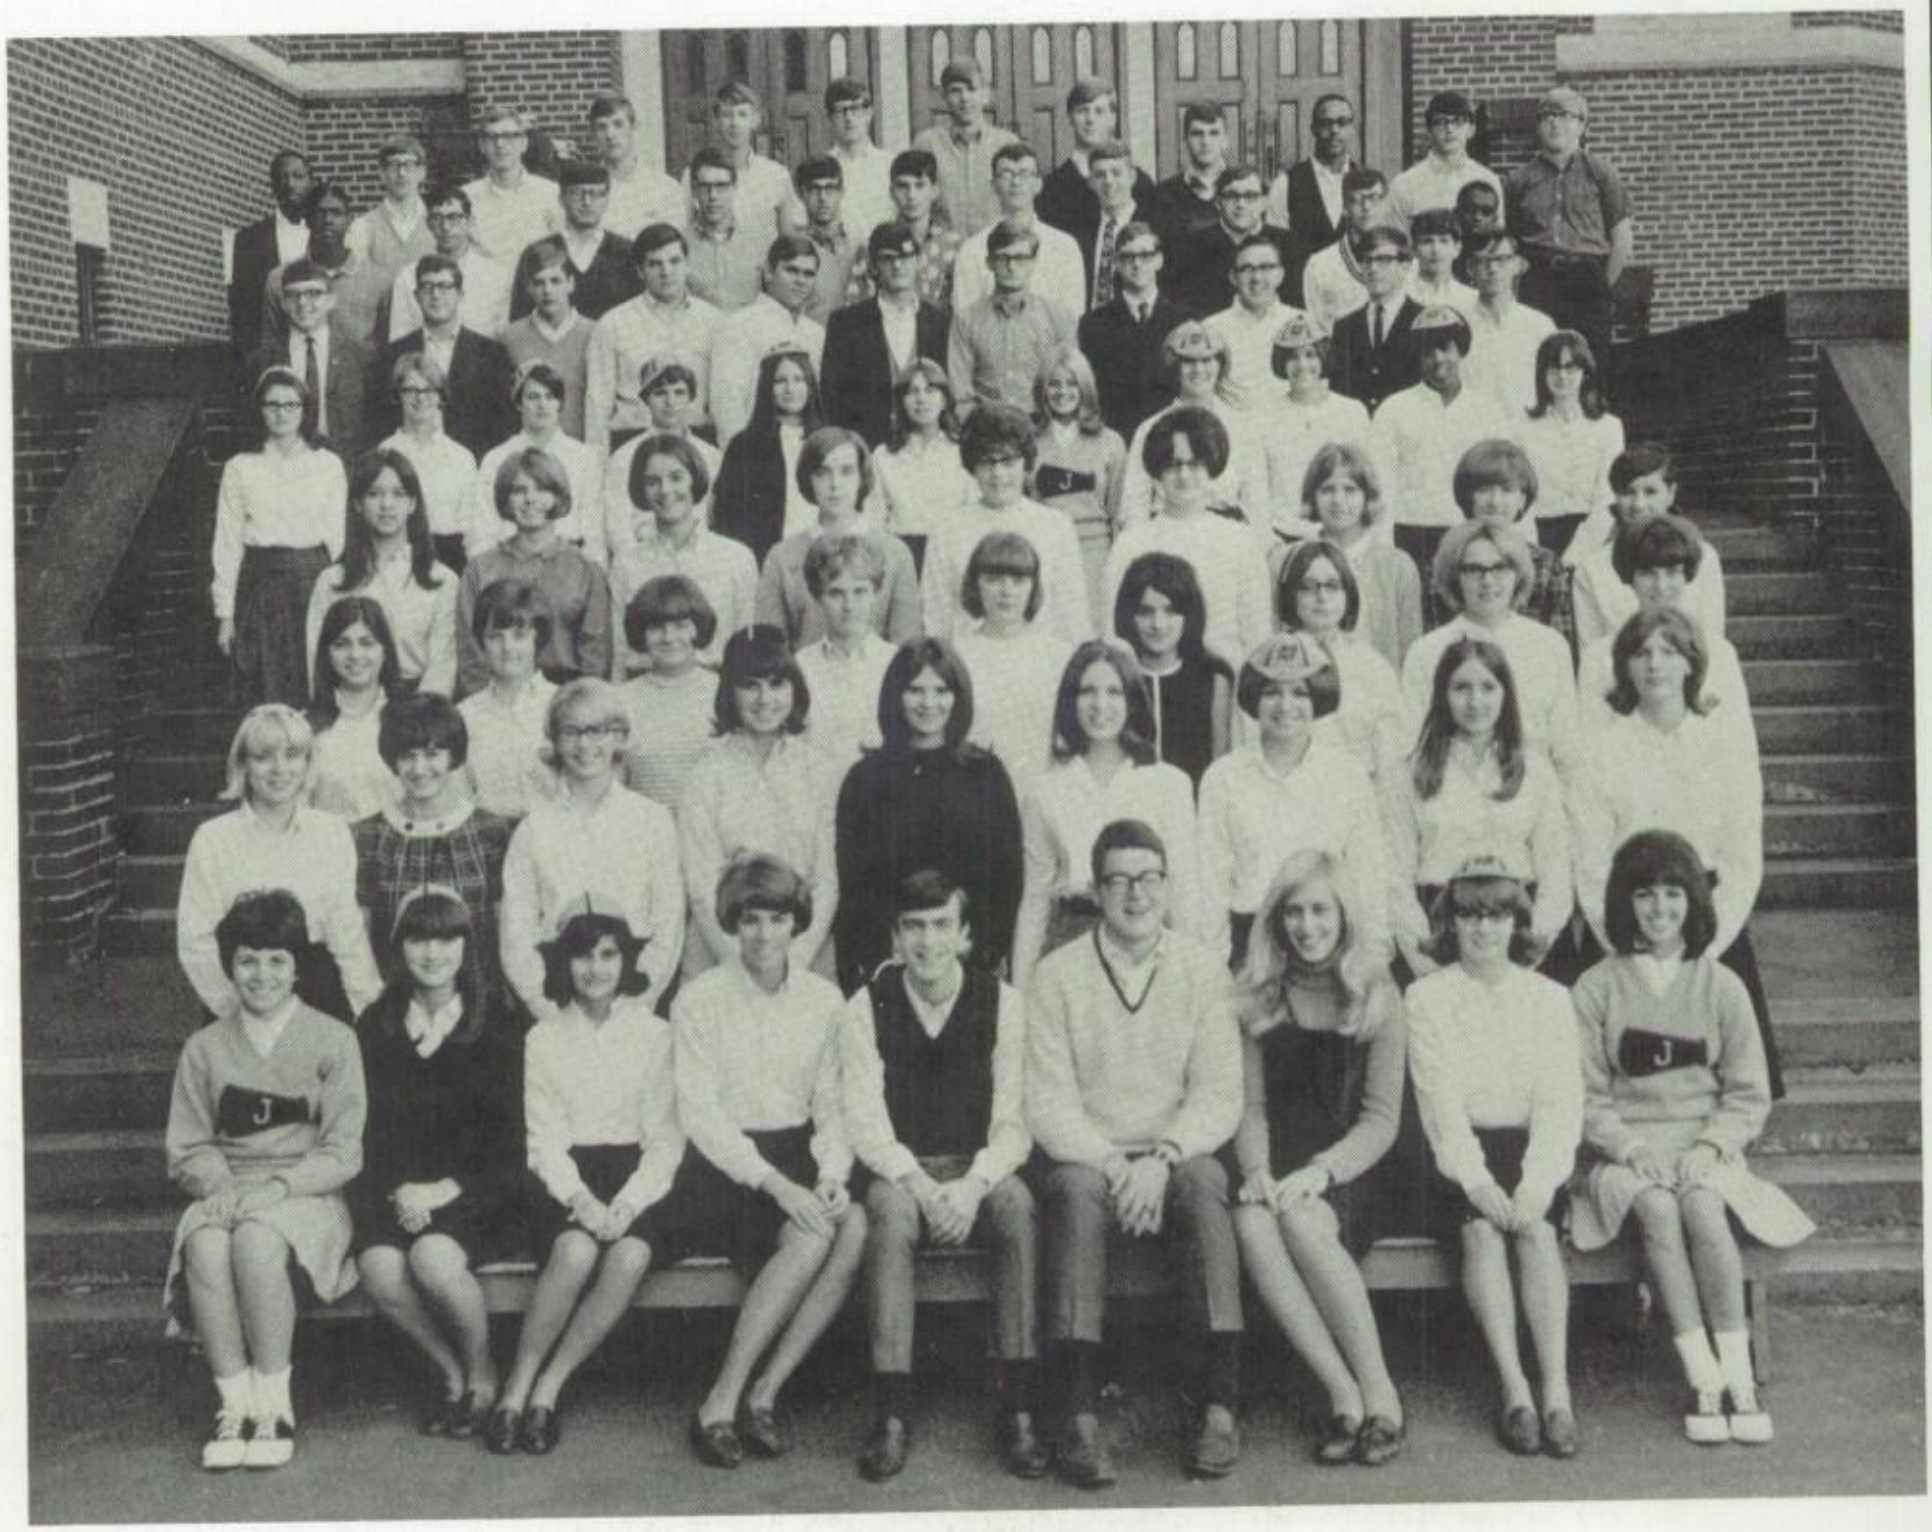
Legislators of Tomorrow

Student Council, under the direction of Mr. Tony Carosella, was on the move this year. The JHS Student Council is an organization that gives energetic and enthusiastic students a chance to be a part of the student government. At the beginning of each year, a representative and an alternate are chosen from each home room.

The Class of '68 is the third to adopt an Active Council, which is made up of fifteen representatives who select the projects that Student Council members carry out.

Student Council officers set the pace.

This year, Student Council sponsored several projects including a dressup day, decorating of trees outside the auditorium for Christmas, and a successful variety show. These students are taking a step forward in school improvement.



Student Council displayed ways of democracy.

Future teachers are ready to meet the challenge.

Four beauties of the age.

Future Teachers of America
Teachers of Tomorrow

Johnstown High School's teachers of tomorrow are the students who compose the F.T.A. at JHS. This club, sponsored by Miss Mary Solarczyk, enables the members to obtain an idea of the teaching profession and the qualities a good teacher must possess. The organization's participants in this field are those interested in teaching from the elementary level to the advanced college level.

One of the main projects the F.T.A. sponsored was the tutoring program at Washington and Hudson Street Schools. At this time students helped the children with their difficulties in reading. The club also sponsored trips to Indiana State University and Penn State University.

The officers of this year's club were Cathy Stoner, president; Andrea Fetsko, vice-president; Kathy Bombatch, secretary; and Argie Cakorous, treasurer.

These Wheels Are Made For Rolling

The new sleek cars of the future will be controlled correctly by some of the graduates of JHS. Automobiles now are being produced that can accelerate to terrific speeds in seconds. This speed is an important safety factor, enabling swift, safe, and efficient passing on our highways. But, as all of us know, speed is dangerous and can cause a car to become an object of death and destruction.

The students who select Driver-Education are taught the techniques used in defensive driving by Mr. Philip Gettys and Mr. George Kauffman. Only after a period of classroom instruction in which the students are taught the theory concerning safe driving, are they permitted to drive the dual controlled cars. Experience as well as safety tips will make the defensive drivers of the future. JHS can well be proud of its students who use this unique program to its full extent.

Mr. Kauffman is proud of his young drivers.

A group of real sharp teen-agers—alert at all times.

A Key To The Future

As always, one of the top boys' organizations at JHS in '68 was the Key Club. Under the supervision of Mr. William Thompson, adviser; Bill Cameron, president; and Jim Kopco, vice-president, the Key Club became one of the largest ever organized at JHS.

One of the main objectives of the club, which is sponsored by the local Kiwanis, was aiding in worthwhile projects. Assisting the Red Cross, raising the money for the Re-hab, sponsoring an outdoor-adventure film, and ushering at JHS football games were just several of the worthy endeavors of the Key Club.

But it wasn't all work and no play. There were fun nights, the treasure hunt, Key Club football games, and many other entertaining activities. The Key Club was a key to the future for each member.

Worthwhile projects was their goal.

Five who led.

For the joy of singing with open hearts, these girls gave their time.

Four great voices.

Voices That Make Music

Under the direction of Mr. Carl Miller, the feminine voices of the Girls' Chorus echoed in the halls of JHS as they sang in rhythm, melody, and harmony.

These girls meet twice during the week and sing together merely for the joy of singing. Anyone is eligible to join who likes to sing and who desires a deeper understanding of music. Performing at the baccalaureate service was an afternoon not to be forgotten by the girls.

The Seniors of this group will leave JHS with a finer appreciation of music through the experience of singing in the Girls' Chorus.

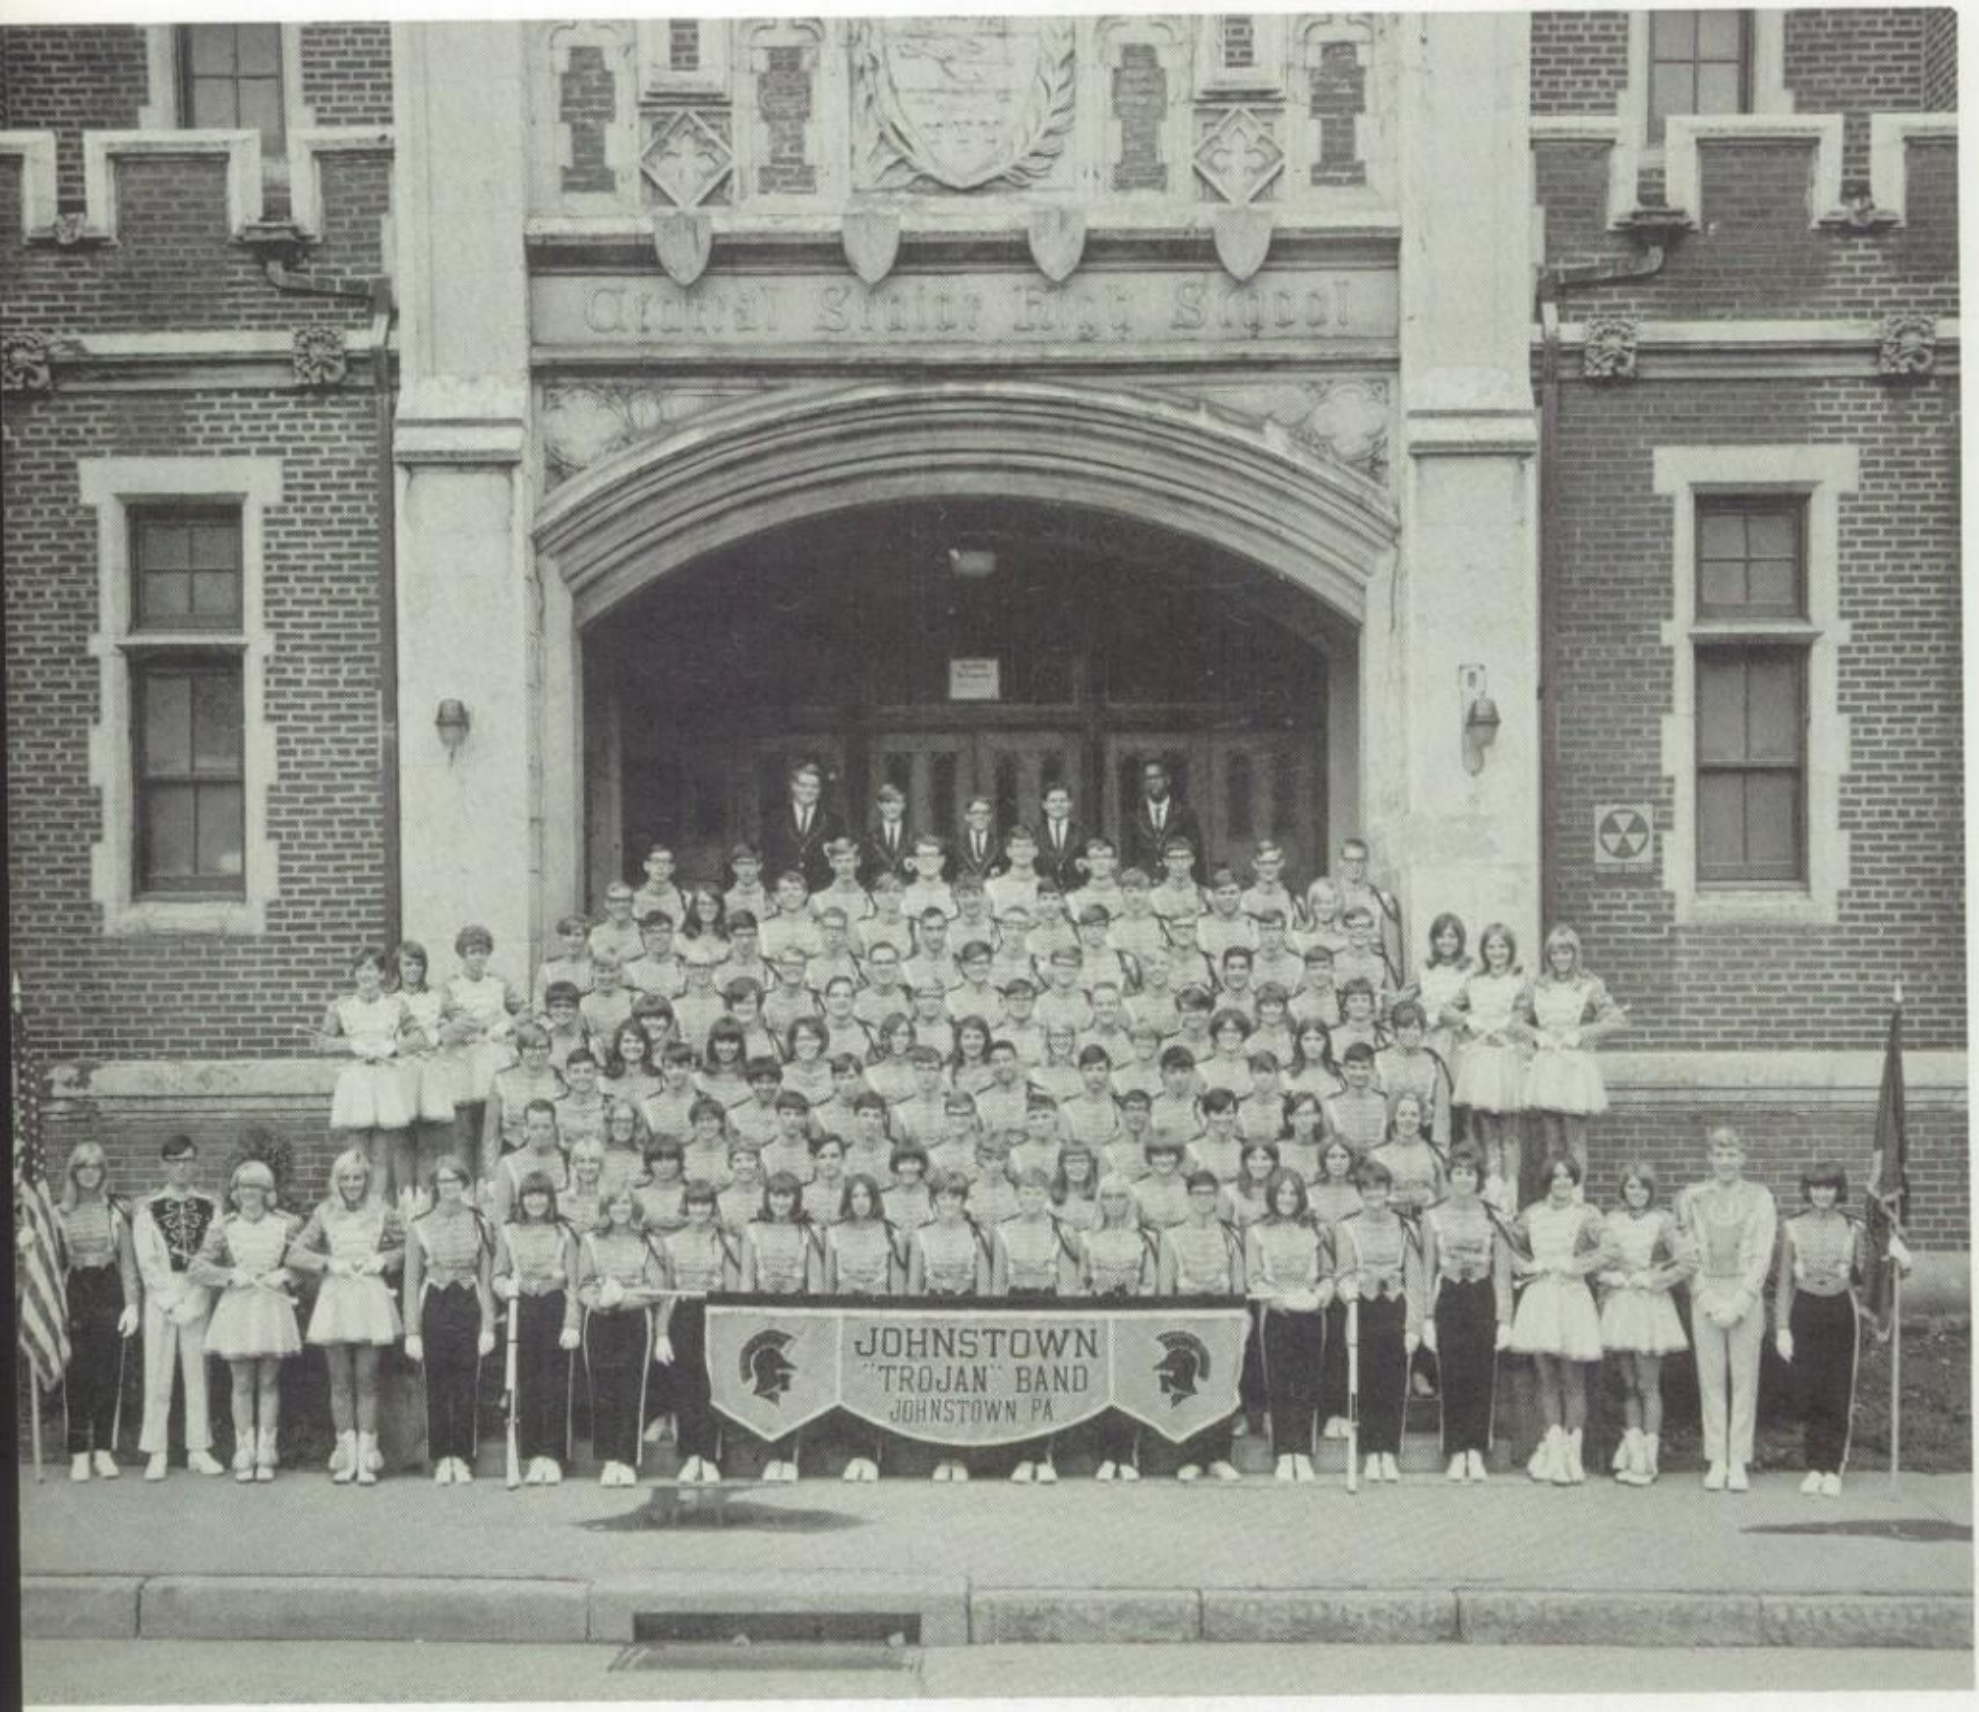
Do You Hear What I Hear

Through the year, one hears the beautiful sounds of the Johnstown High School Mixed Chorus. The 101 voices, under the direction of Mr. Carl B. Miller, put on many fine performances, including those in assemblies, in local churches, and at concerts at Christmas time and in the Spring.

From this group, 40 choraleers were picked for a Choral Ensemble. These students traveled to community activities to sing when the entire group could not go as a body. This year the ensemble performed for Kiwanis luncheons and made television appearances.

The JHS Chorus enjoys their work and they have fun while working. They can hold their own anywhere.

Yes, they can hold their own anywhere.



Perfection In Performance

When we mention the JHS Trojan Marching Band, we immediately reflect on perfected performances. Along with the annual two-week "band camp", conducted at the summer's close, the 125 members of the band practiced after school, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Saturday mornings, previous to the games, one could once more see the members practicing.

Under the direction of Mr. W. Glyn Edwards, Mr. Carl B. Miller, and student - teaching director, Mr. Chris Hornick, the band presented three intricate half-time drills plus the traditional light show and Senior Salute. Our drum major, Bill Stewart, displayed leadership, poise, and responsibility as he acted as sole field conductor for every show. The band also displayed superiority by taking first prize for the best marching and playing unit in the Johnstown Halloween Parade.

The officers of the band were: Jeff Akers, president; Jim Kopco, vice-president; Mary Lou Klochak, secretary-treasurer; Argie Cakouros and Ken Young, historians.

Cool Cats from J.H.S.

Are we talking of alley cats, pedigree cats, or just plain house cats? We aren't talking of any of these, but of the cool cats in the JHS Stage Band.

Under the direction of Mr. Carl B. Miller, the boys have fun while getting a new look at the world of music. The musicians send many familiar pop tunes into the halls, making all who can hear want to swing.

Our Stage Band should be given great credit because of the many extra hours the boys put in after school. Four trumpets, four trombones, five saxes, guitar, drums, and bass make up the body of the band. Although small in number, compared to professional dance bands, the sound of jazz is still there.

Due credit should be given to a part-time composer and arranger, Mr. John Morris, an elementary music teacher. Mr. Morris has written several songs, popular not only with the boys in the band but with the students and faculty of JHS.

And we mean,—real Cool Cats!

Without the Pep Club many activities would have been flat.

Sock It To'em J.H.S.

With shouts of "Go Trojans Go" and "Fight Team Fight", one hundred and twenty of the peppiest girls at JHS displayed their faith and school-spirit in our Men of Troy. These girls, showing their spirits bright, whether in victory or defeat, comprised the JHS Girls' Pep Club.

Under the supervision of Miss La Verne Bobby and Miss Roxana Fitt, and President, Vicky Slagle; Vice-President, Janet Griffith; Secretary, Kathy Cordek; and Treasurer, Phyllis Jeske, the girls attended all sports activities sponsored by JHS. Plus attending these events they initiated the idea of a new "next game" sign,—holding pizza, fudge, and bake sales; attending the away-games by bus; holding a memorable Big Sister-Little Sister Banquet; and that gala event at Christmas time, the Pep Club Formal.

Providing their excellent sportsmanship and cooperation, these girls make the organization a club JHS can be proud of.

They did sock it to 'Em.

Here they are—dynamite plus!

Pam Boyer, Peggy Kellar, Bev Longo, Donna Rose, Bev Marsh, Mary Lou Bala, Bev Miller, Argie Cakouras, Sue Love, and Eyvonne Anderson.

Here are our "go-getter" achievers and they mean business!

Partners In Progress

Junior Achievement, completing its second year in Johnstown, is a big success! J. A. is an organization, sponsored by the Johnstown businessmen, to promote better business understanding among our youth.

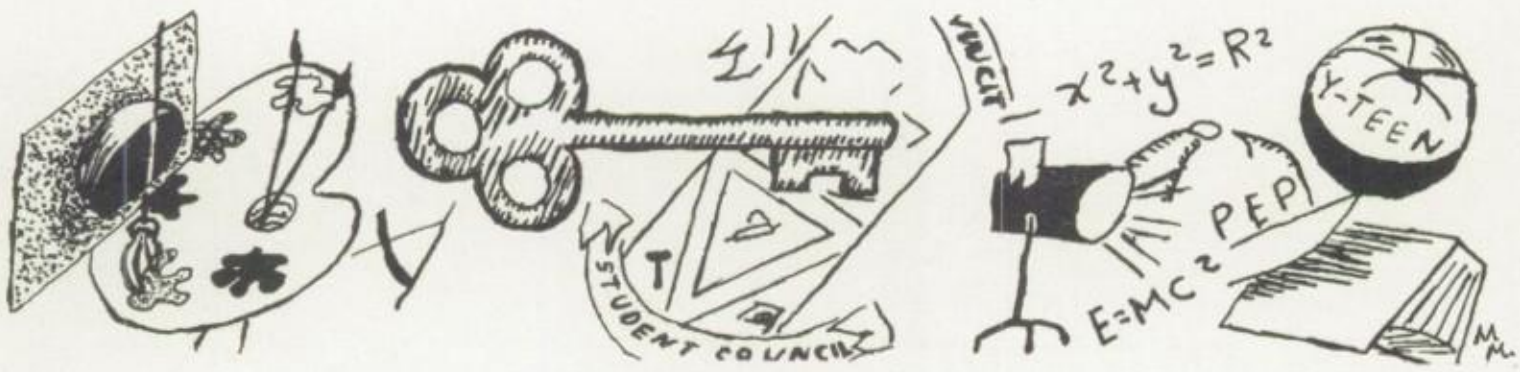
For the last nine months, the achievers attended a work period for two hours every week. Achievers are assigned to different companies and each company produces a different product. Each company is a workshop, teaching the "what's" and "how's" of operating a business.

This year, J. A. was proud of two finalists in the regional J. A. Conference held in Atlantic City. James Kopco and Marcia Maslo represented Johnstown admirably. Junior Achievement also sponsored their annual dance and other fund-raising events to insure the future existence of this fine organization.

Row One: Vicki Slagle, Girls' Pep Club; Sam Coco, Chorus; Rosemarie Gorczycki, Y-Teens; Ed Pastorek, Boys' Pep Club; Trisha Pagliaro, Senior Spanish Club; Bill Cameron, Key Club.

Row Two: Claire Walter, French Club; Alan Cashaw, Engineers' Club; Marguerite McAneny, Art Club; Sharen Cope, National Thespians; Elaine Berringer, Library Club.

Row Three: Jim Sutt, Junior Spanish Club, Dean Lengyel, Projectionist Club; Dave Ulerich, Mu Alpha Theta; Steve Higgins, Student Council; Doug Zagerodnick, Radio Club; Jeff Akers, Band.



Hail To The Chiefs

In '68, JHS clubs were headed by astute and able presidents. Employing sound judgment and displaying maturity, these students directed the clubs of '68 to a successful conclusion.

With such traits, the individuals gained the respect of fellow students. Theirs was a heavy task, but by being able to accomplish the job, these presidents proved their ability by directing their clubs with finesse.

Our presidents were the leaders of '68. Certainly they shall continue on and rise in stature and position as they advance through life.

Four future Broadway stars

National Thespians—Tomorrow's Broadway Stars

This energetic club was devoted to carrying on the art of dramatics. They participated in or presented many of our assemblies at JHS, such as the Thanksgiving play, and the never-to-be forgotten Assembly. The senior members of the club were eligible to audition for a part in the Senior Class Play, which was a splendid presentation of the Broadway hit comedy, Pillow Talk.

Membership in the club was based on a requirement of ten points minimum. Officers of the club were President, Sharen Cope; Vice-president, Debbie Meek; Secretary, Marcia Arcurio; and Treasurer, Linda Caddy.

Miss Carol James, dramatics teacher, was adviser to the club.

"Good Fellowship" had real meaning for these girls.

"Always Ready To Lend a Hand"

This is the motto of a senior Y-Teen girl. The president of the senior club, Rose Gorczycki, had leadership qualities and was "always ready to lend a hand." She was chosen as the state representative and traveled to Washington, D. C. during World Fellowship Week.

The group began the year with an Installation Service for all new girls who wished to join. Y-Teen members participate in Y.W.C.A. functions and offer service to those in need.

Fudge sales were held in the cafeteria throughout the year to earn money. Money made from the sales was used to finance the club activities.

Always ready to lend a hand are these Y-Teen officers.

Other officers of the club were Freda Stanford, vice-president; Judy Bortsnor, secretary; Connie Petrusic, treasurer; and Barbara Seman, inter-club council representative.

Miss Frances Kurowski is faculty adviser for the club.

Proud to Be a Y-Teen

Any junior Y-Teen girl has reason to be proud. Under the sponsorship of Miss Frances Kurowski, the girls made 1967 a most productive year. At an Installation Service, held in the school gymnasium in September, new girls were chosen to become Y-Teen members.

Both Junior and Senior Y-Teens co-operated in sponsoring a "Can Hop". Admittance was a can of food. With the food collected, needy families had a more enjoyable Thanksgiving.

This service organization is open to any girl who is willing to help others and also have fun at the same time.

Junior Y-Teens held sub sales quite often and with the money collected, financed club activities.

Officers of the club were Rose Haynal, president; Joan Kovalchick, vice-president; Nancy Smith, secretary; Linda Miltenberger, treasurer; and Kathy Kuckenbrod, inter-club council representative.

Club officers enjoyed their leadership.

You can't beat a junior Y-Teen girl!

And will all wear white.

Officers learned a great deal about their future.

". . . All Dressed in White"

Members of the Para-Medical Careers Club are not all working towards the same field of medicine, but the one thing they have in common is that they will all wear white.

Some are planning careers as doctors, nurses and veterinarians; others are interested in becoming X-ray technicians, laboratory technicians, and medical secretaries or pharmacists.

P.M.C.C. members this year were found volunteering their services to the community in such places as the Lee Hospital, Raymond Hospital, and the Neilcliff Nursing Home. They also aided fund-raising projects in this area and had fudge sales here at Johnstown High.

This particular club, however, is not all work and no play. Numerous parties and other social events were also on the agenda.

The Para-Medical Careers Club is under the direction of Mrs. Beatrice Shaffer and Mrs. Jane Manners.

Einsteins of the future.

Mu Alpha Theta officers.

An Eighth Period Class for Those Who Enjoy Mathematics

What does it take to qualify for membership in the Mu Alpha Theta? A "B" average in mathematics throughout one's junior and senior year plus a sincere desire to broaden one's knowledge of mathematics is necessary.

The club elected officers early in the year, and they proved to be well chosen. David Ulerich, last year's vice-president was promoted to the office of President. Serving as Vice-President was Judy Opacic, Secretary, Phyllis Jeske; and Treasurer, Monica Centar. Advisers to the club were Miss Alice Spack and Mrs. Jean Napolitian.

This year's main activities included special classes conducted by Miss Florence Warfel, who instructed members on the proper use and operation of Fortran, the new computer located in the professional library. After completion of this course, the members had the privilege of using the computer whenever needed.

The club also traveled to Altoona, Pennsylvania, for the Mu Alpha Theta Convention. The main topic discussed at this convention was, "Computers: It's Science and Language". As a result, discussions presented in previous lectures were emphasized.

The Men With All The Pep

"We're from Johnstown,
Couldn't be prouder,
If you can't hear us,
We'll yell a little louder!"

How many times did we hear these words yelled by the Boys' Pep Club? This cheer was heard on the bus trips, at the football games, at the basketball games and at all wrestling matches.

To lead and keep this club in order were the club's leaders, President, Ed Pastorek; Vice-President, Denny Berkebile; Secretary, Frank Costa; and Treasurer, Jim Hockensmith. We could count on the Boys' Pep Club to always carry us to "Victory". These are the boys from JHS whose social activities and above all, P-E-P, gave a decided lift to the student morale in "68.".

Top leaders

The men with all the pep.

Learning to speak French becomes exciting.

Parlez vous Francais

Allez Aux Francais!!

If one hasn't stopped by room 304 to listen in on a French Club meeting, this title means nothing to him. But if one has, he knows it describes this going club.

Claire Walter, president, was backed up by an impressive and competent group of officers. Vice president, Cheryl Irwin, Secretary, Melinda Klucik, and Treasurer, Annie Kovacs were all qualified for their positions because of their knowledge of French. If and when problems did arise, Miss Lelia Calderwood, the club's adviser, was always willing and able to help.

A unique feature of the French Club was the speaking of French during the meetings. Some of these meetings included speakers related in some way to France or to its language. A get-together party was an activity highlight of these French students.

Projectionists Rate at JHS

The Projectionists' Club is an organization whose prime purpose is to serve the school. Under the direction of Mr. Charles Colbert, the members learn the mechanics of operating the movie projector and run these machines for many of the films shown to the classes at JHS.

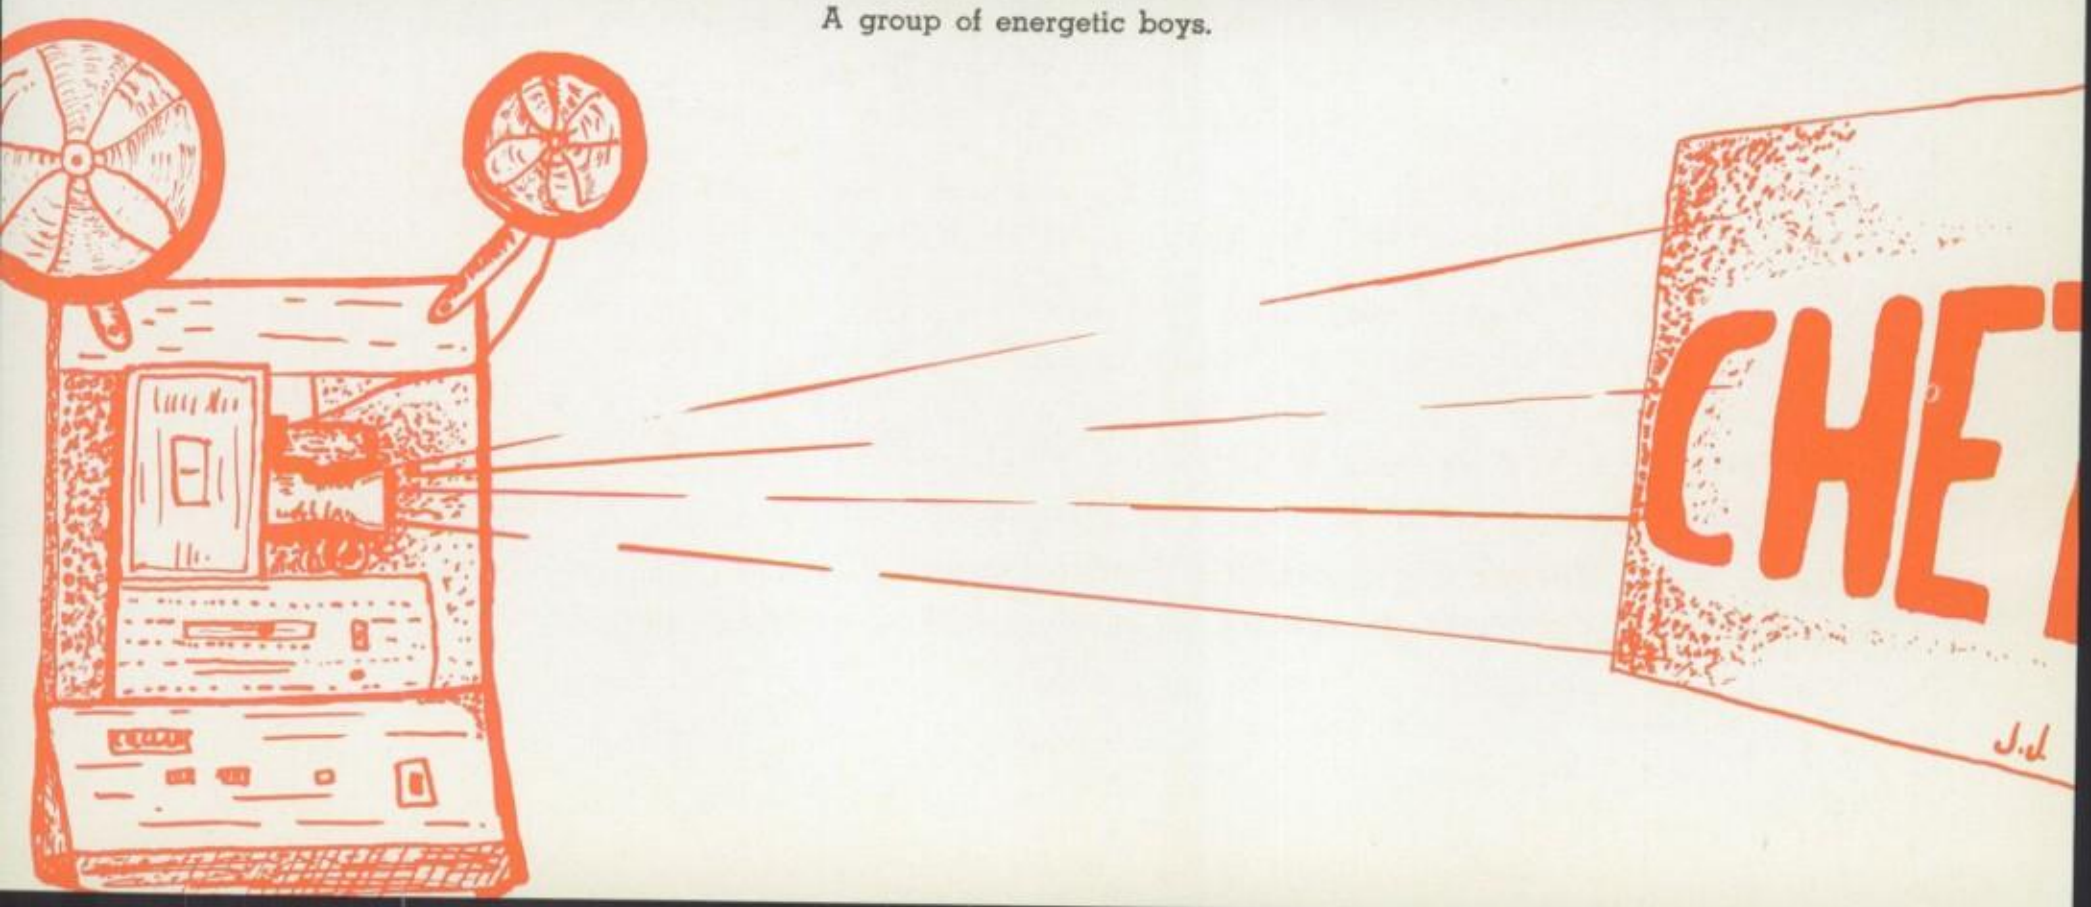
A member of this group can nearly always be found operating movie projectors at any of the films shown in the audion or in the classrooms.

Because this is not a social club, the projectionists seldom sponsor events outside of school. Meetings are held to better understand the equipment. This organization is open to any student wishing to learn to operate a projector.

This year's officers were: Dean Lengyel, president; David Ripple, vice-psesident; Zane Tompkins, secretary; Michael Dudek, treasurer.

The student body at JHS owes a great deal to the members of the Projectionists' Club, because without them the showing of films would not operate as smoothly.

A group of energetic boys.



Science leaders are interested and that's what counts.

Science Club officers enjoyed their reign.

Scientists of the Future

The JHS Science Club, under the direction of Mr. Ralph Weigle, has given interested students in science a chance to broaden their knowledge in this field.

This is a hard-working group that spent many hours throughout the year completing various projects. The club enters their projects in the Science Fair held at the War Memorial. A spot in the State Fair is usually the result of such a competitive affair.

In this rapidly changing world, science plays an important part in our future. Expert scientists are vital to our country's defense and industry.

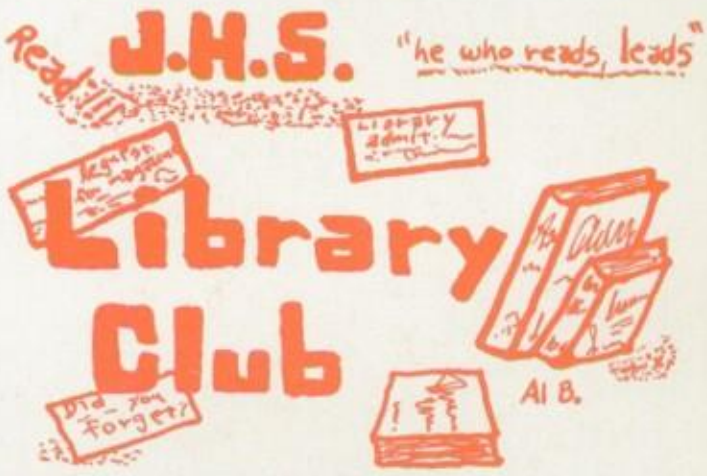
The club officers were Dennis Berkebile, president; Bruce Mayhugh, vice - president; Pat Pagliaro, secretary, and Barry Gallagher, treasurer.

Keeping the Library in Order is Their Job

Service and fun were the aims of the Library Club this year! Not only did the members aid in keeping the library in order, but they also checked books out for students. This year's club did an especially fine job in keeping the newly-arranged library operating, even during remodeling and expansion.

On the fun side, the club sponsored several fudge sales and planned a Christmas party.

Officers of this year's club were: Elaine Barringer, president, Pam Yossick, vice president, Shelby Bracken, treasurer, and Jackie Gmucka, secretary. The sponsor for the club was Miss Twila Wassum. This year's club members took pride in doing a great job in serving JHS.



They had a good time while learning the detailed work of a library.

Their courtesy will always be remembered.

Ushers Utmost In Serving JHS

Serving JHS is the aim of the Ushers' Club and this year's club was no exception. Wearing their gold or silver pins, the girls could be seen at the entrances of JHS, taking tickets, giving out programs, and showing people to their seats. The all-girl club enjoyed their duties in serving JHS and participating in so many events. They really shined at school events such as commencement, baccalaureate, and the class play.

Officers of this year's club were: Wanda Berardi, president, Sandy Blough, vice president, Pat Boratko, treasurer, and Stephanie Mikula, secretary. Sponsor for the group was Mrs. Polly Darr.

Activities planned for the club were a Christmas party for the members to become acquainted and an end-of-school party for the installation of new officers.

Officers of the club led the way.

Los seguidores de Cervantes

One of the most interesting and fun-loving clubs at JHS is the Spanish Club, sponsored by Miss Carol Furnary. This club is designed to give students, studying Spanish, an idea of the customs of the people who speak this vivid and beautiful language. Members of the club have studied at least one year or more of Spanish, and are looking for fun and excitement which can definitely be found in this organization.

The club was under the excellent leadership of President, Pat Pagliaro; Vice-President, Linda Richardson; Secretary, Christine Cucciardo; and Treasurer, Cindy Critchfield.

One of the main projects the Spanish Club sponsored this year was participating in the down-town Johnstown Annual Christmas parade. The students rode the decorated float, dressed in Mexican panchos, wide-brimmed sombreros, and other native costumes. They added style to the parade by singing carols in Spanish. A "piñata" was broken as the float moved on, and candy was distributed to the on-looking children.

A great big Spanish class it was!

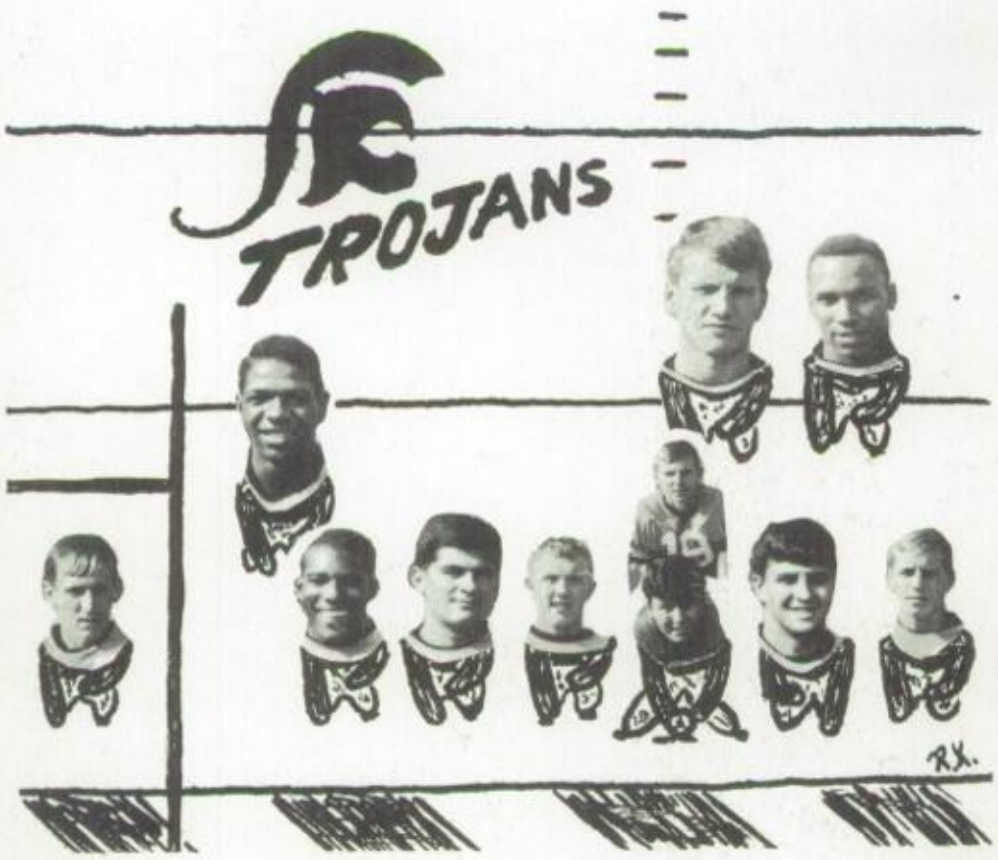
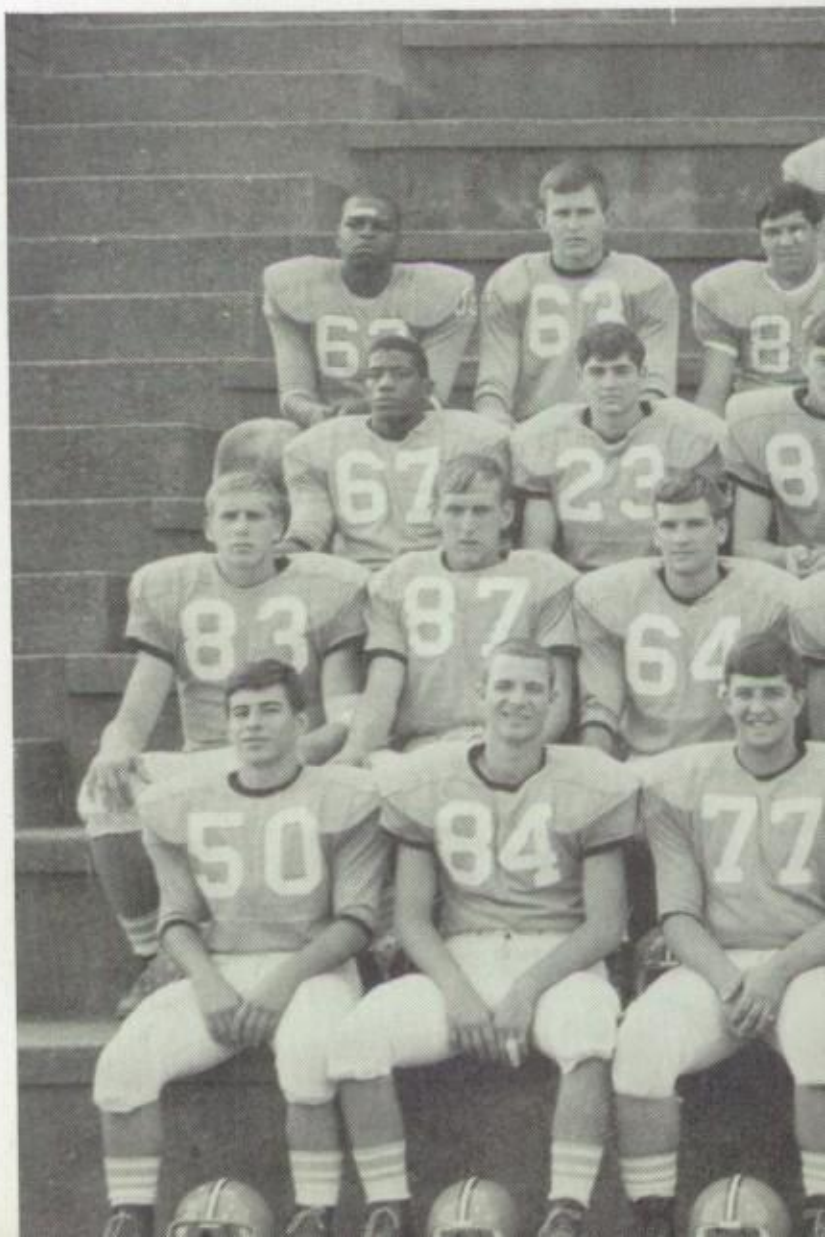
Football Season

This year the 1967 JHS football team finished the year with a fairly good record of 6 and 3. Considering the disadvantages of inexperience, they proved that "the will to win" is still a big thing with all JHS players.

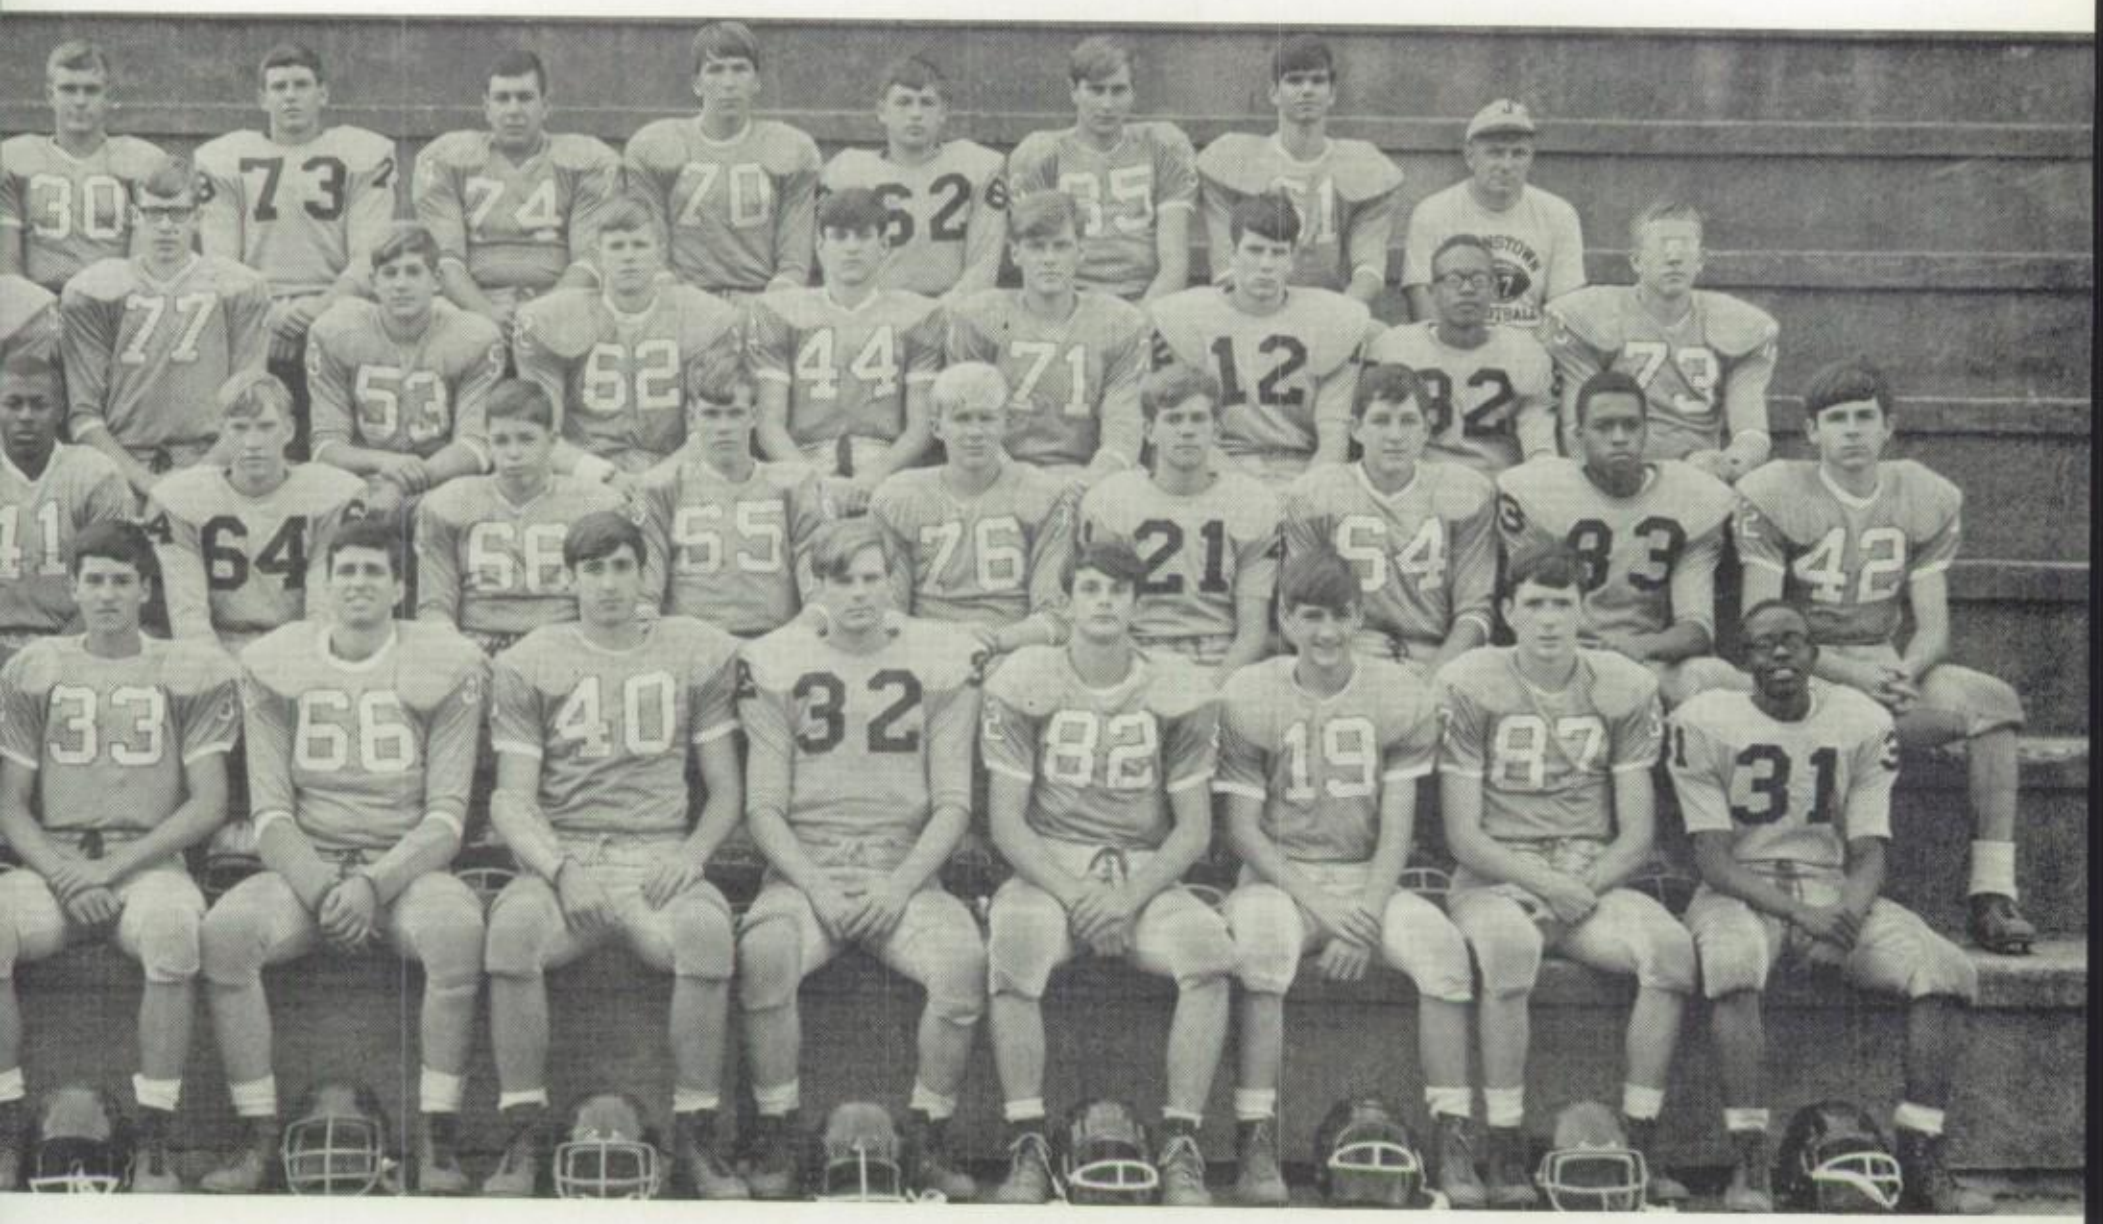
In the opening game this year, JHS lost to Uniontown. Other losses included Altoona and Penn Hills. Despite these hurtings, we were still able to overcome our old rival, Windber.

Other Trojan victories included West Mifflin, New Kensington-Arnold, Carlisle, McKeesport, and Har Brack. As in other years, this team upheld the motto of, "Onward Trojan Victory!"

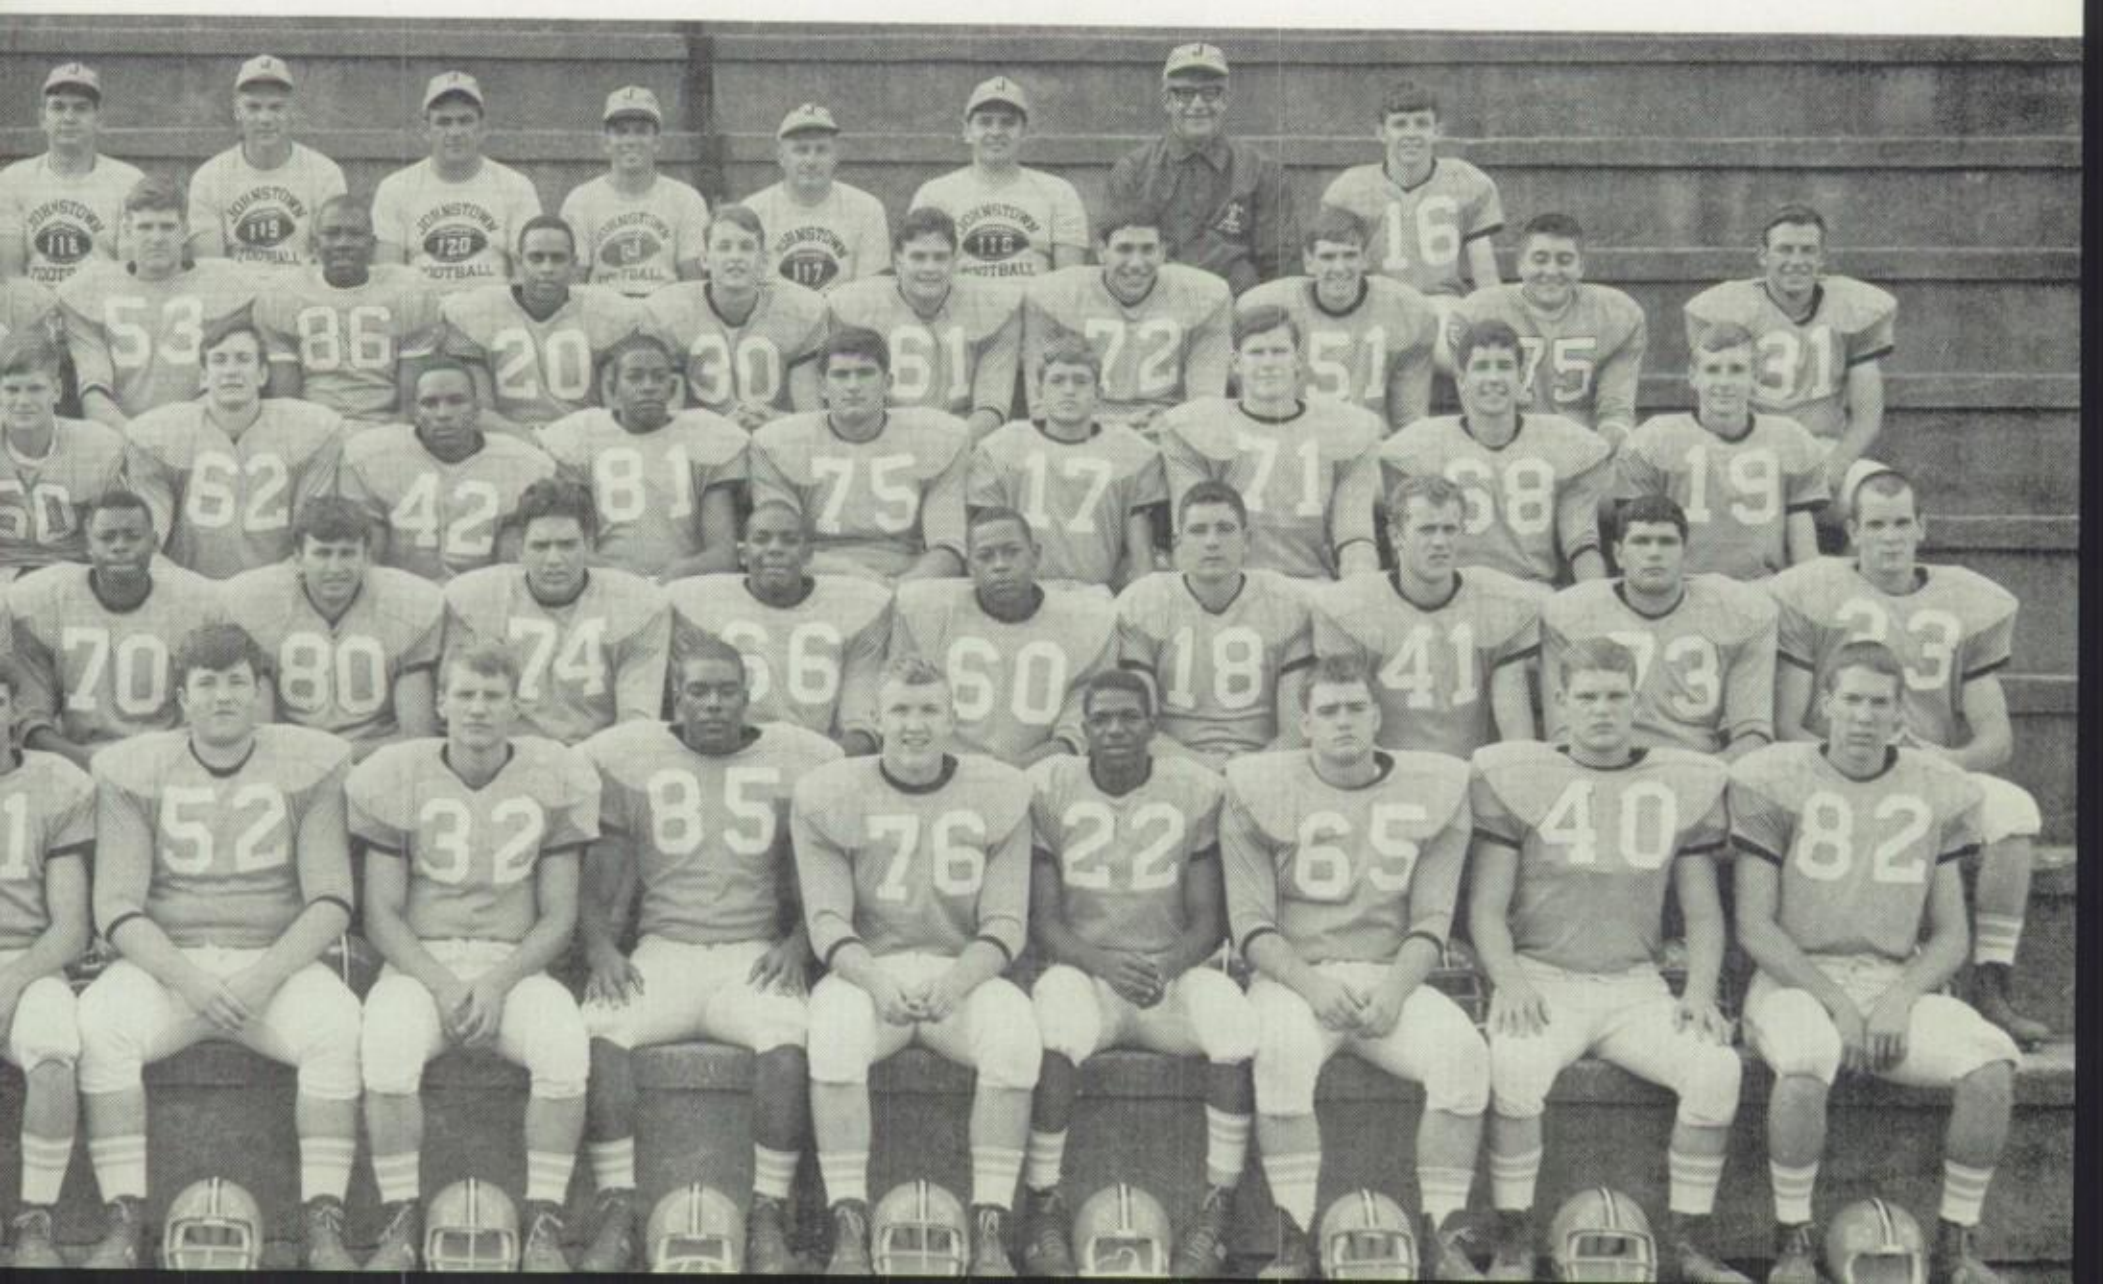




Hip - Hip - Hooray!



These are the boys who carried the ball



TEAM DOES NOT WIN ON DEFENSE ALONE

Uniontown with its hard-running backs bounced Johnstown with a 13-0 loss. A fumble on Johnstown's 26-yard line set up Uniontown for what seemed to be a sure touchdown, but the Men of Troy held the Red Raiders on Johnstown's 6-yard line.

After a punt by Kurt Keiper, Uniontown drove 58 yards for a touchdown. Uniontown's kick failed.

Johnstown played for the most a defensive game. The closest the Trojans came to pay dirt was when Ed Stetz intercepted a pass and jaunted to Uniontown's 36-yard line.

With two minutes left to play, the Raiders got the ball once more. On a fourth down quarterback sweep to the left, Uniontown picked up six more points. The kick was good and Uniontown, with its second touchdown and kick, ended the game with a 13-0 victory.

"TROJANS BOUNCE BACK!"

Our fighting Men of blue-and-black, bounced back from the adversity of a 13-0 defeat at the hands of Uniontown, to chalk up its first victory of the season. New Kensington-Arnold was gifted with a 14-0 defeat from our Men of Troy.

Early in the first quarter, Kurt Keiper, senior half-back, scored the first touchdown with a 72-yard run on a punt runback to put the Trojans ahead. Ed Seman's kick was good for the extra point. Seman is a junior from whom we saw a lot of action last year. On the 3-yard line, with only 28 seconds remaining in the last quarter, Keiper plunged through the Raider's defense, to score our second TD. Seman's kick gave us our 14th point. Our defense was successful in preventing the Raiders from ever reaching our goals.

JHS tromps New Kensington-Arnold, 14-0!

TROJANS TROUNCE 33-13

Johnstown High School won its second game in three outings. Ed Stetz was the big gun with 3 six pointers. Kurt Keiper and John Martin scored the others with Ed Seman making 3 out of 5 extra point attempts.

Johnstown's defense put on another fine performance as they held Carlisle down to a minimum in rushing yardage. The Trojan offense played a superb driving game.

Carlisle put a 6 pointer on the boards in the third quarter after one of their backs intercepted a pass. In the fourth quarter they marched down the field to our three yard line. It took them only seven plays to march 70 yards for a score, but they spent two of those plays just trying to crack our line for the final three yards.

TROJANS MARCH ONWARD

Friday night marked the third consecutive victory of the Trojans. West Mifflin fell to the fate of the Trojans, 9-d. Johnstown "Trojans" are still top contenders for the WPIAL, class AA championship.

Ed Seman, junior end, kicked a 31 yard field goal to put the Trojans ahead in the second quarter. In the fourth quarter Carl Schneider, handed off to Aubrey Tate, who raced around the left end of the Viking defense for the touchdown. The TD pushed the "Trojans" forward for a 9-0 lead. West Mifflin's "Vikings" were unable to surpass the impassable Trojan defense. Johnstown "Trojans" defeated the West Mifflin "Viking" 9-0.

TROJANS EXPLODE AT McKEESPORT 27-6

After trailing 6 to 0 the first half, the Men of Troy exploded with four touchdowns in the final half. Ed Seman took a pass from Carl Schneider for the first six pointer, then he converted the extra point to make it 7-6 Johnstown.

Three hard drives set up the rest of the Trojan touchdowns with Aubrey Tate going in from the four yard line. Nelson Gunby came in to score from the six yard line, and Dan Sheridan crossed the goal line from the seven yard line.

Seman displayed a fine toe as he made three out of four conversions after he missed a twenty-five yard field goal attempt.

JHS All The Way

TROJANS TASTE DEFEAT

The game that started out to look like an easy win turned into a bitter defeat for the Trojans. Early in the first quarter, Aubrey Tate ran 48 yards for the TD. Two minutes later, Steve Williams blocked the Indians punt and Dan Meyers picked up the ball and carried it 35 yards for the second touchdown. With theextra point made by Ed Seman, it looked like an easy victory for the Trojans.

With the Trojans leading, the Indians exploded with two TD's, with both attempts for the extra point made good. The half ended with the Indians leading by 14 and the Trojans trailing close behind with 13.

After the half, the Trojans were full of power. Dan Sheridan plowed his way downfield for four first downs until Aubrey Tate carried it over the Indian's goal. The extra point was kicked far to the left, but this TD put the Trojans ahead 19-14. The Indians, not ready to accept defeat, were successful in crossing our goals and making good the extra point, which put them ahead 20-19. The score remained the same as the clock ran out of time, leaving the Trojans with a 20-19 defeat.

ALTOONA CANS TROJANS

A 7 to 0 first quarter put Trojan fans at a high spirit and then 7 to 7 in the second quarter put the game back into its usual close yearly battle.

A capacity crowd saw Altoona defeat Johnstown 20 to 13 in their annual skirmish. Aubrey Tate played stupendously, scoring two touchdowns. However, it was for a losing cause.

Our boys put on a superb defensive game and our offense was the best it has been on the ground all season. Keying on Tate, Altoona was kept busy stopping Stetz and Gunby while wondering which of the "Troublesome Trio" would get the ball.

Although our record is 4 wins and 3 losses we still have a chance for co-champs of All-Western Conference. Good Luck Boys!

TROJANS FINISH RAMBLERS

Johnstown High finished their season with a 13-0 win over Windber. This game made their record 6 wins with 3 losses.

The entire first half showed a stalemate and it made the fans think of the strong teams which Windber put out against Johnstown. The Trojans made several drives, but each time they were repelled.

In the second half, the "Men of Troy" exploded with Dan Sheridan going over from the one to give the Trojans a 6-0 lead. Ed Seman made the conversion to give us a 7-0 lead. Later on Carl Schneider hit Mark Dadey for a six point pass T.D. Seman missed the extra point attempt, and the game ended Johnstown 13, Windber 0.

TROJANS COME BACK BIG

Saturday night, November 4, the Trojans bounced back into the winner's circle with a 33-0 win over Harbrack. The team was alive with action as they won their fifth victory of the year. Outstanding effort was seen from Aubrey Tate, with 2 TD's, Nelson Gunby, with 2 TD's also, and Steve Williams with one! Ed Seman made good 3 of the extra points. This win came easy for the Men of Troy, because after 2 losses, they were determined to win. Nobody, not even Harbrack, were able to stop them!

JHS Cheerleaders
School Spirit All the Way

What would a game be without this peppy group spurring us on to victory with their rousing, well-planned cheers.

The captain of this year's squad was Jean Burnheimer and co-captain was Marilyn Bargel. Other seniors were Pat Pagliaro and Fran Tabokos. The junior members were Maxine Crawley, Debbie Esposito, Janice Kopitnik, Donna Lishka, Diane McGurk, Gloria Torres, and Linda Unisko. The squad helped lead the Trojans on to a 6-3 record this year with their lively cheers at every football game. They were also present at the basketball games and other athletic events.

Our pepper-uppers placed third this year at the annual Cheerleading Contest with their cheer "Challenge Arise."

The sponsor of the cheerleaders was Miss Lois Miller, who is also girls' Physical Education instructor.

Our Coaches Are the Best

When we speak of the Trojan coaching staff, we speak of men with years of experience and valuable knowledge. Head Coach Francis, "Blackie", Mihalic led the way with his fine assistants, putting together a top-notched playing team.

Besides Coach Mihalic, assistant Coaches Robert Zakula, Paul Slobozien, Milan Svitchan, Joseph Camut, and Willard Fox proved their worth. Last, but not least, is the player's "angel of mercy", Edward "Doc" Stofko.

These men work hard to put together a fine team, and this year as usual they succeeded, so we say "our coaches are the bestest with the mostest!"

Eleven packages of dynamite

The Trojan Varsity Cagers Top off the Class of '68

During the 1967-68 Basketball season our Trojan cagers met with all the cheers, groans, smiles, and tears that every basketball team encounters during its season. And, of course, fine sportsmanship was evident in each defeat as well as each victory.

Although the team was small, the Trojans were quick and displayed this trait in every contest. During the season, the Trojan followers were to witness a pressing defense and an exciting fast-break offense. Fans were thrilled by many heartstopping plays, that helped maintain interest, in spite of a slow start.

The Trojan attack included such fine athletes as Tony Veney, Aubrey Tate, Edward Pridgen, Gary Hrivnak, Terry Kondash, Edward Seman, and Robert Burke. All the boys were very accurate shots, and were capable of scoring that vital basket when it was most needed.

Trojan fans, win or lose, supported the team during the entire season.

Jean Burnheimer accepts a trophy for JHS

Coach Joel Bowser's cross-country team

Look out, there!

Boys find sports fun at JHS.

A group of hard hitters made up the squad.

Our Muscle Men—Hard To Beat

The wrestling squad was comprised of strong, rough, and tough boys, ready for action at any time. Each boy had to compete with his opponents of equal weight. Without strength, fast thinking, quickness, and the ability to out-guess his opponents, who would be on top? Any wrestler is ready to meet all challengers, and he must do so alone. No one can win for him; he must do it on his own.

The squad trained hard and long with the instruction of Mr. Donald Gallucci and his assistant, Mr. Joel Bowser.

Diamond Studded Action

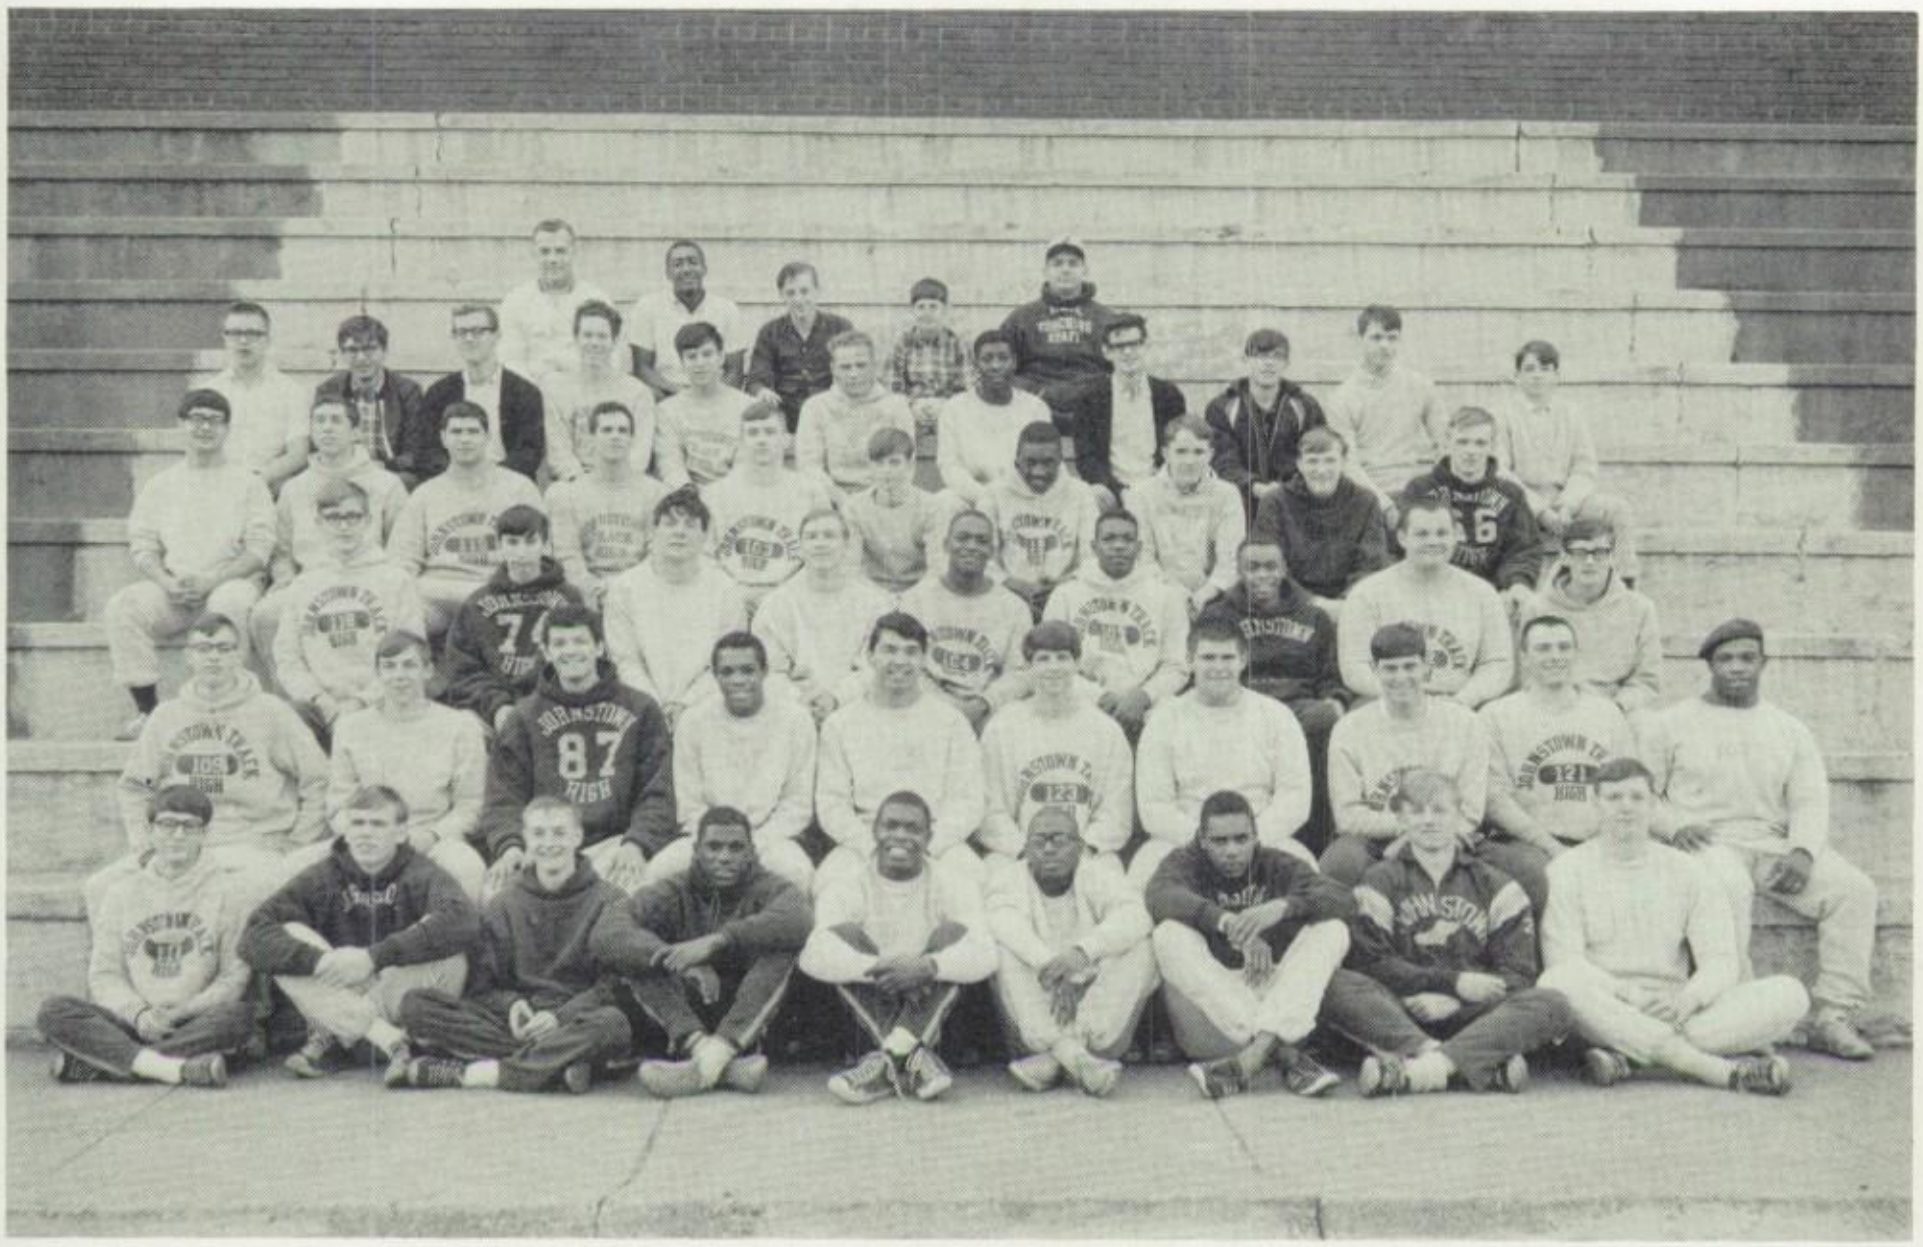
The JHS baseball team really showed some "diamond studded action" this year. They brought pride to our school as they rolled up our victories.

The action started in late March as the players prepared for the coming season by long, hard hours of work and practice.

Teamwork and plenty of hustle were responsible for success, but experiecne was the keynote. Experienced players such as Gary Baldwin, Kurt Keiper, Joe Latch, Richard Heck, Lou Miller, Roy Altemus, Larry Yannutz, and Dave McMillan helped give the team momentum.

Inspiration and direction for the successful team was in the capable hands of head coach Francis "Blackie" Mihalic and his assistant, Paul Slobozien.

Diamond Dwellers with an eye tor the ball



An excellent sports program kept our boys in shape.

Flying Feet and Hard to Beat

This year the JHS track team completed another successful season. Under Coach Robert Zakula, the boys worked hard to stay in top condition for their meets.

The JHS track member is a hardy and bold individual with flying feet and certainly hard to beat. He practices after school on the cinder path at Cochran. He may train for three events which is the minimum, or perhaps specialize in one event, but he fits in well with the rest of the team. Track is a team effort, and to achieve success, there must be cooperation and participation on the part of every boy.

Our boys score high to give JHS prestige in the field of track.

JOCIE RODKEY
looks into the future

"AS I SEE IT"

by Jocie Rodkey

You asked for it! From the day you, the student, entered the building of JHS, you have been watched and observed so that one could discover in what field your potential lies. So I report the results of this investigation which took over a year to complete. Read on. As I see it . . .

DENNY BERKEBILE will be the first astronaut to live on the moon while BOB CASSIDY will be busy giving dancing lessons—shoulder-wise! In the meantime, an atomic car will be invented by JIM FRICK and testing motorcycles in the Alps will become JIM CHAMER'S obsession . . . PAT HAYNAL, without a doubt, is going to open a restaurant specializing in the delicacy of boys, food, and boys!! Employed there will be DONNA BALYA, working as a professional food taster . . . Speaking of professionals, I see that TOM GEMBINSKI will become a Pharmacist. RICK CALLIHAN, not to be outdone, is practicing to be an Orthopedic Surgeon. Who says there's no Santa Claus? My crystal ball shows MARK DADEY proving that there is! RICH LAYTON will become a literary genius the same year that LEROY MANSFIELD wins the title, Mr. America of 1973. A new team mate for the Harlem Globe Trotters will be JAY MOORE. TEDDIE TOMKOWSKI will be A Maker Of Songs with LINDA CADDY and DARLENE PANTANO as her song-birds. Poor TOM HOWARD, if he doesn't quit drinking coffee at Howard Johnson's, will be a sick boy. SHEILA EVANS will be working in a prison and will operate the electric chair. She believes in capital punishment. Since cows are RON TESSARI'S favorite friends, he'll discover one that gives chocolate milk. I see GARY SPORY and RON BALLOW operating the New York Times. NANCY LEVERGOOD is doing a fine job as Supervisor of the School Bus System in Johnstown. A Pulitzer Prize will be won by MARY JANE RANDOLPH for her book entitled, "God Love Her." PHYLLIS JESKE will be a busy person as she takes on the head of personnel at Sak's Fifth Avenue. DAVE GRACIK will excel as your friendly billboard painter. ANNIE KOVACS is still studying to be that college professor of philosophy. CLYDE HOPPERT'S jewelry store should be a success, as he's going to sell lost rings. Also going into business will be FRANK TORRES, opening a shop called Pancho's where he will sell tortillas. JERRY ROSKO will be a great white hunter, a deer next year and a dear in 1972 . . . TERRY KONDASH, as a Pro Basketball player, will invent, to his advantage, a bounceless basketball. I see CARLO CORDELLINO addressing a group in Hyde Park London—DOROTHY EVANS writing a book . . . The Miss Physical Fitness title will be won by SHIRLEY PUDLINER. A career in teaching Economics will be CHARLENE THOMAS' . . . BILLIE SCHWENEBRATEN will be the lucky girl to find the answer to all her wishes at the end of the rainbow. CARL ROSKO will make an excellent boxer if he remembers to punch and not pinch . . . Excelling in the field of art I see, TONI RODRIQUEZ, CONNIE ROBERTS, and SHARON MALEY. KATHY AVENI will be a petite little housewife. We will add another space scientist to the staff when TOM MCCUSKER makes it through college. Meeting the real Dick Tracy will complicate the mystery to the life of MARY LOU LUQUE. AUBREY TATE, of course, will be the college hero of any sport. ROSEMARIE GORCZYCKI will be the President of the Future Farmers of America. The biggest Manufacturer of cigarettes, ED TORCHIA, will have a helping hand in his ideal way of life from STEVE QUINN and RICK MAHLA. DAVE ROBERTS, having mastered his doctorate degree in Spanish, will be teaching at JHS. During this time, GLORIA RESPET will hold the position of top seamstress at Penn Traffic. Johnstown High School will be looking forward to that new gym teacher, JEANIE BURNHEIMER, as she completes her training at Slippery Rock. LINDA RICHARDSON, excelling in judo, will be teaching this sport in the Greater Johnstown area . . . LARRY FORGAS will be giving a Ho Ho Ho as he plays Santa Claus for Macys' Department Store . . . RAY SWANGER will be the biggest wholesale wine dealer. He'll even stomp his own grapes. GLENN SHAFFER will win an award for having the most used books in his home library. Baking cakes, cookies, pies, and bread has PATSY ROONEY stepping to fill the orders of all her customers. SONNY SAKONY will manage his own wrestling team, the members being his favorite kind . . . RICH REGULA, chief of all Indians, is thinking of a reformation in the tribes. Major league baseball sees a new catcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers, PHIL HAMRYSZAK. VERONICA WOJNARSKI will own the New York Daily News with TOM DILLON in charge of the printing presses. Taking a trip to Spain will be STEVE MINDISH. He's going to be a Spanish dancer. KATHY KING, as a secretary, will occupy a seat on her boss' lap. In the meantime, BILL BUTERBAUGH, will be running for the Presidency of the United States.

Graduates of '68, this is your life—anyway you look at it! But let's make the most of it.

Teen-agers Tell Their Story In Poetry

NANCY LEVERGOOD

I HAD A RENDEZVOUS WITH AUTUMN

by Nancy Levergood '68

I ran into autumn a couple days back,
I hadn't been aware of her amazing attack;
All of a sudden, I was confronted with beauty,
I took time to notice, I felt it my duty.
Each leaf around me, no matter the color,
Had a special meaning to someone in wonder.
I had the pleasure of speaking with one little leaf,
To me he related the dangers of thief!
A stormy, old man sneaked up unaware,
And stole all their wardrobe of colors so rare.
What a shame to deny them this magnificent splendor,
The leaves do not harm you, they're gentle and tender!

OLD SHOES

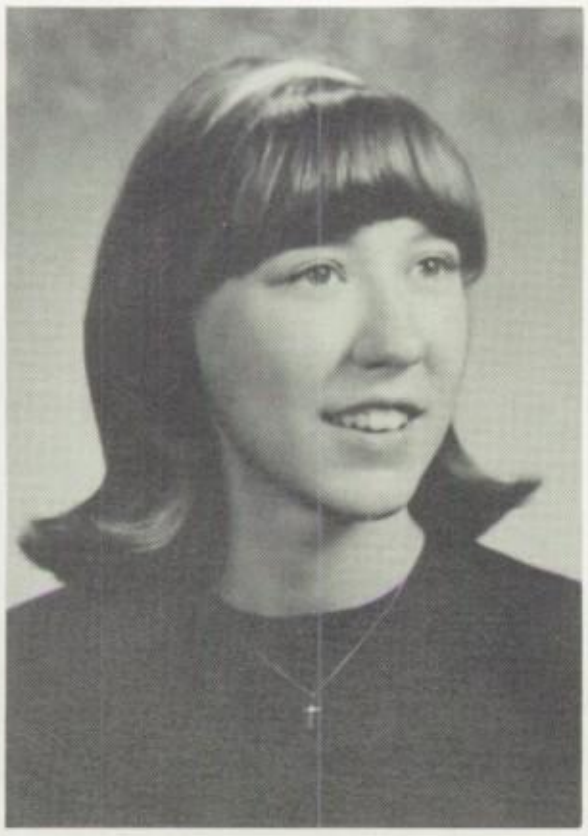
by Nancy Levergood '68

Old shoes.
Like an old model "T",
Exhausted and worn,
Sit,
Finally content,
In the corner.
Here they reminisce,
A life of travel;
Their tongues hang idle,
And their soles are tired;
Their anatomy,
Held together,
Only by strings.

AN OLD MAN

by Nancy Levergood '68

An old man,
Like a precious antique,
Sits contentedly,
Untouched,
By problems of the world.
Handle him carefully,
Lest he be broken;
More dear,
He becomes with age.



CONNIE ROBERTS

LEAVES TELL A MESSAGE

by Connie Roberts '68

A leaf dancing on the sidewalk has no worries,
A leaf falling from a tree feels no pain,
A leaf that is golden yellow doesn't hurry,
Why must we run from the rain?

A leaf is happy when prancing in the air;
A leaf has not a single care,
Contented leaves they come and go,
Why must human beings rush and hurry so?

Why can't humans be more like leaves?
Leaves set an example and leaves don't grieve.
Why must our lives be all twisted and tied?
Who are we not to be satisfied?

Leaves spread this message around us all,
Gay leaves come to us from the season called fall.
Why must people play life's game so rough—
I feel sometimes we don't thank God enough.

THE BRIDGE

by Connie Roberts '68

The Bridge,
Like the backbone of an athlete,
Intense and strong,
With fortified shoulder,
Stretches across the river.
With arms made of steel and muscle,
He supports all who passes,
Never complaining,
Or shrugging the heavy load.

MOMENTS OF JOY

by Connie Roberts '68

Joy is the satisfaction you did your best,
Finding you made an "A" on the big test.

Joy is a carefree afternoon lying on the grass,
Watching fluffy white clouds over head by-pass.

Joy is seeing a pastel rainbow appear,
After an April shower has dropped her tear.

Joy is watching nature turn summer into fall,
Viewing the painted leaves like a hugh beach ball.

Joy is the Christmas tree sparkling and bright,
With old Saint Nicholas bringing gifts Chrismas night.

Joy is the closing of a poem complete,
When the beginning and ending finally meet!

THOMAS HOWARD

I HAD A RENDEZVOUS WITH AUTUMN

by Thomas Howard '68

As I enter the forest I see,
Many a brightly painted tree,
The woods are dressed in fall fashion,
Here is beauty, love, and compassion.

The pillow of leaves under my feet,
Often draws me to this quiet retreat,
Where a meandering stream flows cool and clear,
Providing a playground for frolicking deer.

Crimson-clad huntsmen are looking for game,
The woodland animals are eluding the same,
Farmers are starting to bring in the hay,
Preparing for many a long winter's day.

OLD SHOES

by Thomas Howard '68

Old shoes,
Wrinkled and worn,
Have been retired.
Society has cast them adrift;
They no longer lead a productive life.
Their tongues droop,
And their bodies sag.
Useless and unwanted,
They sit idly,
Wondering what will become of them.

JOCIE RODKEY

DESTINY

by Jocie Rodkey '68

Once upon a starlit night,
I saw the most enchanting sight,
A tree that seemed to sing and sway,
In the flowery month of May.
And would you believe this tree,
Actually tried to talk to me;
It's hard to understand I know,
Still I listened all aglow,
To its message of joy and peace,
And how our wars could forever cease,
And how we're here to give a hand,
To those who need it within our land,
He talked of love, hate, destruction, and despair,
And of people who are barren everywhere,
Who live in this great world of ours,
But have no time to gaze at the stars.

WINTER

by Toni Berardi '69

The snow is gleaming across the way,
It's a mitten and muffler kind of day,
The kind of day when you don't mind a spill,
On a sliding, snowbound hill.
Get out your sled, lets have some fun,
Before the brittle-bright day is done!
When we come in with our cheeks aglow,
Frosty of nose and icy of toe,
We'll have a snack by the fire together,
Yes, it's hot soup—popcorn—popping weather!

OLD SHOES

by Jocie Rodkey '68

Old shoes,
Crinkled like crepe,
Inherit
A naughty grin.
With wagging tongues,
From their mouth,
Hanging loose,
They playfully engage
In a battle,
With the laces,
Knowing that never again
Will they be able to walk.
Fatigue has idled them.

DONNA BALYA

STORM CLOUDS

by Donna Balya '68

Storm clouds,
Cruel and taunting,
Stare
At the earth below.
With vicious faces,
They float along,
Nourished
By the fear
They create.
With cunning glances,
They signal
Each other,
And prepare for attack.

A RENDEZVOUS WITH AUTUMN

by Donna Balya '68

I had a rendezvous with autumn just the other day,
Just how long I reflected is hard for me to say,
The sunset-colored leaves that were falling from the trees,
Cast on me a blue note as they floated through the breeze.
I remember gazing upward to the pale, blue sky above,
And picturing in a fleecy, satin cloud the face of Him I love.
Autumn, that wonderful, glorious time of the year,
When everything around us becomes very dear.
The wren sings merrily from his diminutive mouth,
To inform those who will listen, it is time to fly south.
Yet this fearful feeling of emptiness lingered on,
I wondered to myself just when it would be gone,
I must have guessed when the autumn winds blow,
That not long after, we will have snow.

SUNSET

by Donna Balya '68

The sun has dropped behind a hill,
The world is very calm and still,
All around me there is peace,
As though all conflicts had to cease,
And for a moment I stop to pray,
And give God thanks for his gifts this day;
Soon Night sounds start to really hum,
As twilight falls and the dark has come,
And homeward I go on my merry way,
Making plans for another day.

JANIE THOMAS

I HAD A RENDEZVOUS WITH AUTUMN

by Janie Thomas '68

Autumn is the time of year,
When people shout with joy and cheer,
Leaves falling from the trees,
Gently floating in the breeze.

Families of ants climb over a log,
In the morning dew and misty fog,
Tiny lakes with fingers reach,
To the shore and around the beach.

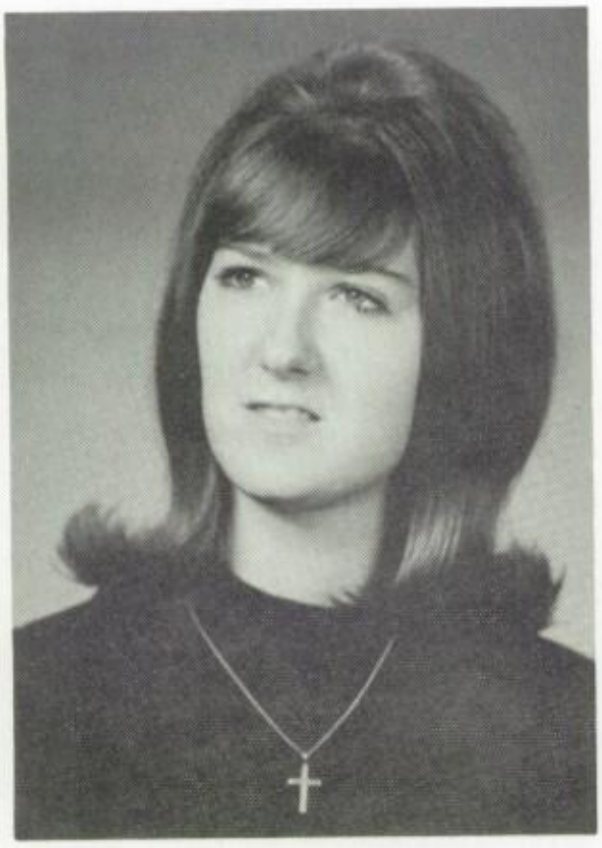
Across the way a farmer works,
Around the corner the harvest lurks,
These will soon belong to the past,
People can forget very fast.

I HAD A RENDEZVOUS WITH WINTER

by Janie Thomas '68

Winter is always filled with joy,
And means "the most" to girls and boys,
Children playing in the snow,
Eyes and faces all a glow.

Snowflakes falling like gentle rain,
One upon the other the blanket has lain,
The trees and lakes will soon be frozen,
This is the life that winter has chosen.



PHYLLIS FIGURA

QUIETNESS I

by Phyllis Figura '68

(Inspired by Dr. Peterson)

Listen, my friend, and I will tell,
Of the class we had, and remember so well.
It was an autumn day, a beauty at that,
When our minds were to rest, we thought and sat.

We were to reflect on the thoughts we had,
It was such a change, everyone was so glad.
Some wrote a poem, concerning the leaves,
While others just scribbled, their minds at ease.

Those moments of placidness, Quietness I it was called,
When all were so solemn, our colleagues appalled,
That period we will treasure, for years that will come,
And all will remember, our thoughts and the fun!

REMEMBERING YESTERDAY

by Phyllis Figura '68

It seems like only yesterday, our puppy love began,
Strolling down the placid road, walking hand in hand.

We listened to the murmuring brook, so peaceful as it flowed,
And treasured those warm moments, everything just glowed.

He and I discussed some things, well known to all who share,
That special sort of feeling, known to all who care.

Many things have happened now, and I have changed in ways,
But there remains that same old feeling, and remembrance of those days.

Perhaps tomorrow will be different, unlike the moments passed,
By remembering real warm yesterdays, their memories will always last.

SUE LOVE

(a star in "Oklahoma", JHS Musical)

ONE LITTLE WISH

by Sue Love '69

One little snowflake on one tiny nose,
One nipping wind to freeze ten little toes,
One happy smile on one little boy,
Add to the wonders of Christmas joy!

One little girl snuggled deep in her bed,
One bright green tree decorated in red,
One little wish that I hope will come true,
Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to you!!

DEATH

by Sue Love '69

Alone I walk, along in the sand,
Alone without a gentle hand.
The moon is high as the tide rushes in,
But my world is as dark as the greatest sin.
He's hurt my pride and broke my heart,
And now to the sea I must depart.
The northern sea will be my guide,
Into the ocean where I will hide.
The waves are high but I have no fear,
For I know that death is very near.

SAM COCO

(a star in "Oklahoma", JHS Musical)

I HAD A RENDEZVOUS WITH AUTUMN

by Sam Coco '68

Cornstalks in a farmer's field,
Flowers that the frost has killed,
Crisp cold nights and bright warm days,
Autumn leaves are all ablaze,
Wonder bright the world now looks,
Pictures you'll not find in books.

A Rendezvous With Autumn

GARETTA PAXTON

A RENDEZVOUS WITH AUTUMN

by Garetta Paxton

I had a rendezvous with autumn,
It was a keen September day,
The leaves were brown and red and yellow,
I wish that day were here to stay.

I had a rendezvous with autumn,
The air was brisk and crispy, too,
The sun shone bright upon the mountain,
The sky looked like a misty dew.

I had a rendezvous with autumn,
My eyes beheld a sight unseen,
No man could ever paint this vision,
I treasure it with great esteem.

THAT TIME OF YEAR

by Phil Troska

Christmas time, lots of good cheer,
Caroling children and Santa are here,
Presents for all, reverence to God.
Powdery white snow covering sod.
Fireside visions, cold winter nights,
Shopping in town, wonderful sights,
Happy and gleeful, everyone's nice,
Everything's made of sugar and spice.

RAINDROPS FELL

by Judy Baxendale

Raindrops fell one quiet summer day,
They entered into my broken heart,
When you took your love away.
Some say that raindrops are angels' tears,
Which are shed for the brokenhearted;
Angels wept when you and I had parted.
A rhythm of raindrops flowed
Into the chambers of my soul,
Echoing a lonely melody
That my heart could not control.
Raindrops fell while memories lingered in my mind,
Tears were shunned and left behind.
Raindrops quench my lonely heart,
And help me forget the love that was torn apart.
Someday love may come again,
For only time can tell,
I know that I shall never forget,
The day the raindrops fell.

SUNSHINE

by Judy Baxendale

Sunshine is joy and laughter on a quiet day in Spring,
It peeps through the treetops and shines in the streams;
Sunshine is warmth that glows in hearts each day,
Sunshine is joy in someone's eyes when it overcomes the rain.
Sunshine is light that shines on sadness and grief,
For it heals the wounds of time and gives new joys to meet.
Sunshine is eternal light, shining from above,
When the heart is sad and lonely and needs understanding love.
Sunshine is a gentle hand that dries the tears away,
And helps us to believe there comes a better day.
Sunshine is a watchword star shining everywhere—
Through endless plights, darkened nights, and when we're in despair.
Sunshine is by our side to share our griefs and sorrows,
No matter what our strife.
Sunshine is Jehovah, shining from above,
Bestowing to all upon the earth everlasting love.

SECRETS OF A LOCKER

by Kathy Bombatch '68

If you peer into a locker at J.H.S.,
As you'd suspect—it's quite a mess!
From bobby pins and paper clips,
To pretzels and potato chips,
A Pepsi bottle here and there,
And Beatle pictures everywhere!
A pencil, pen, a book or two,
But by percentage, very few.
Last year's gym towel and dirty comb,
Sure looks like a Hippie's Home Sweet Home.
When all these goodies the janitors see,
Poor guys think someone slipped them L.S.D.!
Things accumulate from residence,
But mostly through inheritance.
A bobby sock, a saddle shoe,

COLOR ME GREEN

by Cheryl Sell '68

A new dress?
I want one too!
A new car?
I want one, too!
A new carpet?

A broken leg?
I want one, too?

THE CLOCK

by Cheryl Sell '68

Tick-tock
Tick-tock
The classroom clock
Sits like a hawk
And down she gawks
At pencils and chalk
When she talks
She tick-tocks
Tick-tock!

Everything that's wrong is the fault of the generation generation which comes after us."

"THE MINI SKIRT"

by Janie Thomas '68

The mini skirt is without a doubt,
The shortest thing ever talked about,
Boys will stare as she goes by,
There's not much there but it catches the eye.
They come in colors bright and bold,
But in winter time they're really quite cold,
So, mothers, don't worry and look so sad,
Let your girl wear them, it's just a fad.

I LOVE EVERYTHING

by Donna Balya '68

I love to do my English,
It makes me feel so good,
I love to do exactly as my teacher thinks I should;
I love school so very, very much,
I never miss a day,
I even love the men in white who are taking me away!

BOYS

by Donna Balya '68

I think that I shall never see,
A boy who quite appeals to me,
A boy who just doesn't wear,
A coat of grease upon his hair,
A boy who wears his shirt tails in
And doesn't have a silly grin,
But boys are liked by fools like me,
And who on earth would date a tree!

TEST TIME

by Phyllis Figura '68

Hands jumping on the clock,
Brains beating in my block.
Teacher's watching eyes don't stray,
Why won't the blank space go away?
How I regret that late late show!
Pounding, pounding, all the while,
Results tomorrow, will I smile?
Think, think, come'on, let's go,
Hurray! Yeah! I think I know.
Go on, go on, put it down,
No time left to fool around.
Oh, no, that's not right,
My mind still puts up a fight.
There I got it, it looks good,
Maybe I'll do better than I thought I would!

BIG RED, MY CAR

by Thomas Howard '68

Down the street the Red Bomb flew,
It was my car, as everyone knew,
"Red" coughed, spit, and even sputtered,
When I popped the clutch, the rear-end shuddered.

With this car I've done a lot,
But, alas, the body went to pot,
A little sanding, putty, and some tin,
Soon it will be ready to roll agin'.

It's had many a name, this car of mine,
But to me it is my Valentine,
My true love and dreamboat, too,
Big Red, I really appreciate you!

CATCH A MAN? HOW?

by Garetta Paxton

Catch a man
Oh, what a game!
The rules are often not the same.
With females plenty
And males so few,
What are we supposed to do!
Yes, catch a man,
That's what they say,
What happens when he just won't play!

Poems by Michael Dudek

MINI SKIRT

A mini skirt's a pretty sight,
If the legs are shapely and the hips are right,
But if she's wearing a size 18,
The sight I see just makes me scream!

TEXTURED STOCKINGS

Textured stockings are supposed to be
A lacy, pleasant sight to see.
When a fellow looks, he's expected to pant,
But imagine lace on an elephant!

HIPPIES

Hippies now inhabit the earth,
"Flower children" with lots of mirth,
Bells that jingle and plenty of beads,
Psychedelic colors and LSD.
These poor souls are lost on drugs,
Living in squalor among the bugs,
Just too bad some wise old owl,
Can't make them see they're classified foul.

"The sense of humour is the just balance of all the faculties of man, the best security against the pride of knowledge and the conceits of the imagination, the strongest inducement to submit with a wise and pious patience to the vicissitudes of human existence."

DOWN WITH SWEETS

by Jocie Rodkey '68

Up with carrots,
Down with sweets,
And all those other fancy treats!
Fat ones are on a strict diet,
If you're plump, you, too, can try it,
People gaze at you and stare,
'Cause you buy jumbo underwear.

HOW TO CATCH A MAN

by Jocie Rodkey '68

C'mon, girls gather 'round,
It's time we've dug up some ground,
About the classified information,
Of the girl-and-boy relation!
I've come to you with one great plan,
It deals with how to catch your man!
So listen with attentive ears,
Or you'll be the next in tears.
Here he comes, way down the hall,
Stand up straight, nice and tall;
Flash him one of your great big smiles,
Keep him guessing for awhile.
Pop up always in his favorite places,
And his brain will wonder what it faces.
Share your lunch with him to start,
'Cause through his stomach, you'll win his heart!

TEACHERS

by Jocie Rodkey '68

Teachers, teachers, everywhere,
Give us kids an awful scare,
Some are skinny, some are tall,
The fat ones are the funniest of all,
With blubber bulging as they go,
Waddling and struggling through a row.
It's those glares they give that kill,
All our initiative and all our will.

Every girl was there with her special date.
Frosted Fantasy was the theme,

"AS WE WALK THESE HALLOWED HALLS"

by Frank Liptak & Phyllis Jeske

Hi there! Well Seniors, it's finally over! Are you glad? What have you done these last twelve years? Only you can answer this, but we're going to tell you what you could have done during your brief stay at JHS. Come along! Follow us as we walk these hallowed halls!

Let's go back to our first day at JHS. Remember how ED PASTOREK showed up late? Mr. Rubis' welcoming speech was interrupted by a loud howl from GARY ANTOSH and ANDY BELKO. Those poor boys still haven't recovered! Sighs of relief were heard by the junior class as they rushed into the maddening crowd of bus-seekers, Phew!—the day was finally over!!

As the year progressed, many clubs were organized, and many of us joined. Of these, most notable were the Boys' & Girls' Pep Clubs. Initiations will always be remembered by CHRIS ANDREWS, in her flowing gown of rags and JEANNIE OSMAR, with her famous cry, "Toliet paper: penny a sheet!" Also unforgettable at the Boys' Pep Club initiation were RICH HORNICK, covered with gooey shaving cream and MIKE BUMBERA, modeling the latest girls' gym suit in his stylish combat boots.

During this year, friendships were formed, uniting the students of all three junior highs as one! Some of these notable friendships were BARRY HARBART and MARLENE ZIMA, and even closer friendships were established between SAM COCO and KATHY BOMBATCH, and KENNY KEAFER and PEGGY KELLAR.

As our junior year came to an end, we said good-by regretfully to the senior class who had led us through the year. We faced our senior year under the leadership of these able officers: President, JIM KOPCO; Vice President, BILL CAMERON; Secretary, VICKY SLAGLE; and Treasurer, SHEILA JORDAN.

Summer was over, and back we went to the cathedral of learning. There on the steps were ARTIE LIGHTFOOT, SHARON HEIDINGSFELDER, JIM HOCKENSMITH, NORBY COWAN, and KATHY BORODIC ready to start the so called "Funniest" year off with a bang.

Football games played an important part in the lives of all JHS students. Memorable ones were West Mifflin where NANCY SUTTON and DONNA YEAGER, wild with excitement, almost hospitalized a few JHS fans. DAVE FREIBEN led the Pep Clubs with a cheer for victory, while FRAN TOBAKOS and PAT PALARIGO kept the West Mifflin boys occupied with something else. Wonder what? At the Altoona game, tears were shed and tomatoes thrown by JEFF ROBERTS and RAY LABUDA. Maybe names should have been changed to protect the guilty?

A daring undertaking this year by the Girls' Pep Club was their participation in the annual Halloween Parade. KAREN TOTH, in all the confusion, lost the Pep Club. Finally, she gave up her search and returned to JHS, throwing her sword and shield into the river. DONNA ZEDLAR and BARB MYERS made up their own version of a Trojan March, dancing down Main Street.

The Cheerleading Contest was another unforgettable event. JANET GRIFFITH and KATHY SHARRETTS almost lost their minds trying to form the "T" of blue blouses which symbolized our cheer. JOE KATKO and BRYAN WILKINS staggered in—was it from the endless parade of cheerleaders' legs?

Not one school day passed, that something didn't happen during the noon hour. BECKY NAGY unconsiously spilled milk all over her skirt, intending it for her glass. JEANNIE HILBOKY was spectacular when she dropped her lunch tray, and CHARLENE WOZNICK was even funnier when she tripped on Jeannie's butter.

Next, we walk in on the gala event of the Christmas season, the Pep Club Formal. Responsible for the atmosphere of fantasy, were JANIE COLLINS and ANDI FETSKO. KATHY CORDEK and BEV MYERS were only two of the many beauties who attended. Couples who will always remember the romantic feeling were RON FOX and BARB RESLEY, and BOB "Spud" SPUDIENOK and BETSY MARTIN.

Abused, but never forgotten were the shop boys. Involved in many crazy antics which made us all laugh, were BARRY CLOSSIN, JIM NICHOLAS, and GARY KUCKENBROD.

As we peek in on some of the classes, we can see MR. SVITCHAN coughing up a storm. Maybe this taught RAY BASTAJA not to leave the window open in the middle of winter. KATHY LACUE also gave him a hard time, with her constant talking to PERSH WILKINS. German class revealed BOB CASSIDY and TERRY LOPAZE, listening intently when MRS. CALDERWOOD was explaining. In health class, LOUISE HEIDER and KATHY CONDO excelled in the bone structure, especially that of the male. Next, in the 7th period physics class, POLLY SKALEK and KIRBY BORING, were the only ones able to understand MR. SLOBOZIEN'S experiments. Finally, in journalism class, JOCIE RODKEY, JANIE THOMAS, and CHERYL SELL almost broke down under the strain of MISS OWEN'S pressure to get things done right.

Now we're Graduates; the year is over. Most memorable of all, was graduation night. The top students led the class in that thrilling march to the War Memorial. Graduates who looked forward to a promising career were ARGIE CAKOURAS, DEBBIE BARNHART, KURT KEIPER, CYNTHIA HOYLAND, GEORGE FILIMONOV, DAN KELLAR, JUDY SHOMO, TONI SOLECKI, GARETTA PAXTON, DAVE ULERICH, PHYLLIS FIGURA, and MONICA CENTAR.

MEMORIES!!!—Did we bring any to mind? Through our short walk together were you able to recall the happenings that you enjoyed during your brief stay at JHS? Now, you are on your own! These realities of your high school days, have on this day turned into cherished memories. As you walk throughout life, remember our j o u r n e y through "The Hallowed Halls of JHS!"

THERE'S FOUR OF ME

by Kathy Bombatch '68

I once passed by a little tree,
The little tree called out to me,
"Listen friend, and listen well,
I have a tiny tale to tell.
In winter, I have snow white hair.
In fall, a gold chapeau I wear.
In spring, my crown St. Patrick green.
In summer, darker shades are seen.
We're puzzled by The Trinity,
But honestly,
There's FOUR of me!"
Then whispered soft, the little tree,
Words to the wise sufficiently:
"We're like jealous little sisters,
Summer, winter, spring, and fall.
Find something nice in each of us,
Or say nothing about us at all."

I HAD A RENDEZVOUS WITH AUTUMN

by Kathy Bombatch '68

His eyes held the color of an October sky,
His hair a goldenrod hue,
And his coat a multitude of confetti shades,
Dappled with an aster or two.

His smile was clear as the morning frost,
Without chill or dreadful curse,
And a heart as free as freedom wills,
Spread over the universe.

As snow drew nigh, he said good-bye,
From my heart I bled a tear,
But he brushed my face with the warmth of the sun,
Saying, "I'll return again next year!"

STORM CLOUDS

by Kathy Bombatch '68

Storm clouds bellow across the sky,
Growing dark and black with hate.
They growl and grumble,
Pound their burly fists in a brawl,
Later, feeling sorry for exploding,
They lower their heads,
And cry like naughty children.

I HAD A RENDEZVOUS WITH AUTUMN

by Cheryl Sell '68

I had a rendezvous with autumn,
A thrill I'll ne'er forget,
This vision of a sunkissed hillside,
I never before had met.

My encounter with such loveliness,
Truly swept my breath away,
Beauty viewed with only heart
Is what nature strives to portray.

THE FIRE

by Cheryl Sell '68

The fire,
Grabbing for the sky
Like a tiny tot for a toy,
Rages on.
Its fingers,
Wiggling above the treetops,
Toss flames
Grotesque yet gorgeous.
Its arms
Squeeze the trees into ashes.
Its head
Spits sparks
To destroy.

DEATH

by Jean Ann Osmar '68

Sunset,
Like a dying man,
Uses his last minutes
In the valley.
Strong willed but tranquil,
Knowing the end will come.

THE MAID

by Peggy Kellar '68

The forest fire,
Like a tidy maid,
Sweeps
The forest floor.
Her bright red hair,
All a blaze,
Tangles
In the trees;
"Time for Spring cleaning!"
She says to herself.

THE SILENCE OF THE WOODS

by Wanda Berardi '68

The pale blue sky caresses the trees,
Their bright colors sway in the cool, balmy breeze,
The crimson red stands, especially tall,
Gold leaves soon begin to flip and to fall.

Now it is quiet, not a thing stirs,
The woods sigh like tiny kittens' purrs,
A lonely wren calls out for his mate,
He wonders what will soon be his fate.

How peaceful, how still, how magnificent it all,
No thoughts of cold war, no greed to appall.
My heart—no anger does it bear,
The woods have taught me—fear no care!

The bright vivid sky is always the same,
The trees they command no desire for fame,
To live in sweet peace is all that they ask.
Why, then, for man is this such a task?

MY ALARM CLOCK

by Wanda Berardi '68

My alarm clock soon will ring
With its usual ding-a-ling,
I hate its brazen sounds
It seems my whole life it hounds.

I hate its horrible tune,
It means I must get-up real soon,
When I want to stay in bed
With a pillow under my head.

Why can't it let me alone?
I'd love to turn it to stone,
Then I could sleep all day,
From September until May.

I HAD A RENDEZVOUS WITH AUTUMN

by Wanda Berardi '68

I kick the leaves upon the ground,
And think of autumn's past,
Gold leaves flutter in the trees,
Like sails upon a mast.

Crimson leaves tumble from their home;
They wave a last good-bye,
The lonely tree with branches bare
Cries for help up in the sky.

I had a rendezvous with autumn,
No words were ever spoken,
For the sad gray sky reported,
Autumn's spell was broken.

MY LOVE

by Wanda Berardi '68

Love is like a symphony,
Singing in my soul,
Beating out the joys of life,
A vibrant bell's clear toll.

Hear the zing of the cello,
Like my soul, you see,
The flute twitters softly now,
My heart plays on key.

Love is like a symphony,
Hear the loud refrain,
My heart tingles with delight,
No sadness can remain.

LINDA JOHNSON

THE THIEF

by Linda Johnson '68

Time—
Steals silently, slyly by,
Tempting us with the essence of tomorrow,
He forgets yesterday with a sigh,
And races us through the hills and valleys
Of Life,
Never breaking from stress or strife.
Time can be healing,
But I think it a thief,
From old people stealing
The gift of Life.

THE OCTOGENARIAN

by Linda Johnson '68

The old man
Sits
Silently contemplating Life
Going by.
Like a dry,
Withered leaf
In Autumn,
Slowly
Drifting to the ground,
He waits
For the snows
Of Death
To come and Gently cover him.

SUNLIGHT IN THE FOREST

by Linda Johnson '68

The sunlight
Like a nimble nymph,
Dances across tree-tops
And skates o'er the pebbled brook.
Leading a life
Of care-free ease
She laughs,
And gives the flowers
A kiss.

FROSTED LIPSTICK

by Linda Johnson '68

Frosted lipstick's quite the rage
As fashions turn another page.
Vampire red is truly out;
What's really in is the pale-pale pout!
Some people say it makes one look dead,
But it never fails to turn a boy's head.
Yes, frosted lipstick's here to stay;
I'm glad it's the fashion of my day!

AUTUMN

by Linda Johnson '68

Once again it's that time of year—
A crackly, crispy, bright time of year;
Autumn is here.
It's time for the weather to turn real cool,
For football games and returning to school.
An odor of smoke, a look of grey haze,
This summer has seen the last of its days.
It's time for Nature to draw her curtain,
On another of her plays.

THE CAST OFFS

by Linda Johnson '68

An old pair of shoes
Lying
Deserted in a corner
Feel
Lonely and abused.
Silent are their tongues,
Their leathery faces
Tired and sad.
Worn are their soles,
Knowing
Their life's work is done.

OLD SHOES

by Mike Dudek '68

My old shoes are scuffed and worn,
Laces knotted and tongue is torn.

These old shoes have traveled far,
And mileage shows with many a scar.

The shoes have taken the shape of my feet,
But with a coat of polish they'll shine up neat.

I hate to discard these shoes of mine,
They've become like two friends with the passage of time.

They know my mood and never pinch,
I could walk five miles and that's a cinch.

Old faithful shoes come along with me,
And cushion my step for no extra fee.

A SUNSET IN THE VALLEY

by Mike Dudek '68

A Sunset in the valley,
Wrapped in beautiful robes,
Glows
As she casts her magic,
And closes the sky
With magnificent Splendor.
Then quickly and silently she Steals behind the mountains,
To wait and Play her game of peek-a-boo
At twilight again.

SUNLIGHT IN THE WOODS

by Mike Dudek '68

Sunlight,
Warm and friendly,
Plays like a wild deer,
Among the stately trees.
With animated
Rapture
Dancing gracefully, artfully
Dodging,
Branches and leaves,
To make a dappled design
On the forest floor,
Like a mosaic.

RENDEZVOUS WITH AUTUMN

by Mike Dudek '68

I had a rendezvous with Autumn,
On a bright and sunny day,
The winds was filled with sharpness,
As it drove the clouds away.

The air was heavy with fragrance,
And the trees were decked with care,
And my rendezvous with Autumn,
Is one I will not share.

WINTER RENDEZVOUS

by Mike Dudek '68

I had a rendezvous with winter
On a cold and snowy night.
She met me at the corner
With a snappy, frosty bite.
Her cloak was long and regal,
She looked so good in white,
But I knew right from the start,
That she was going to show her might.

PATER

by Mike Dudek '68

My Polish father, tho stubborn he be,
Is sweet and kind and generous to me.
He supplies nice attire for us to wear,
But when the bills come, he growls like a bear.
He has a gentle heart and willing hand,
And is ready to help whenever he can.
No favor's too large or small for a friend,
As long as his back he's able to bend.
He works hard for a living, and watches his money,
For foolish spending to him is not funny.
He has gentle brown eyes and silver-streaked hair,
Boundless energy with plenty to spare.
His favorite sports are fishing and hunting,
With a bow and arrow he's very cunning.

BIG "J"

by Phyllis Figura '68

We entered Big "J" in the year '66,
As jolly ole Juniors, all in a mix.
Rambling the halls in order to find,
Appointed rooms, which we were assigned.

That year flew past, our first in Big "J",
Leaving bright memories, to each in his way.
But we didn't worry, for we still had a year,
Though not really knowing, the end brings a tear.

Then once again we entered his elongated hall,
But this time as Seniors, having a ball.
We were ready and eager, to get in there and fight,
With memorizing, studying, and homework each night.

We studied hard, for as we all knew,
If one wanted college, this was the right thing to do!
In planning the future, many roads we do see,
But it's up to the student, to decide what to be.

Well, what can be said, as I finish this line,
For the two years that past, are really the fine.
Time will go on and years will go by,
But deep in our hearts great memories will lie.

As Seniors we search for the right words to say,
To express our deep thanks, to you, our Big "J"!

FAREWELL TO J.H.S.

by Jocie Rodkey '68

Memories of the colors—the black and the blue,
Memories of crazy things that we used to do,
Memories of scribblings all over the desk,
This is our farewell to J.H.S.!

Forget all your grief and pain and sorrow,
But never forget you're trained for tomorrow,
This school has done it all for you,
Thanks J.H.S., you're loyal and true.

The first day was hectic,
The second day was bad,
The third day was horrible,
But the last day is sad!

Graduates of '68,
It's up to you what you'll make,
The future is in your hands,
Are you what the world demands?

So thanks go to J.H.S. once more,
For the key that opens the door,
Of happiness and joy, minus the fears,
And worthwhile success for the future years.

Frisky, our model, also says, "Farewell" to the class of '68
